SENATE SUSTAINS PENSION BILL VETO!

Ask Tax Plan Acceptable To Administration

ATTEMPT TO HALT VETO ON FISCAL MEASURE

Conference Committee to Try and Work Out Revision Program

By WM. K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service.
WASHINGTON, May 13.—Three Republican senators who favor the Mellon plan of tax reduction were appointed by the president of the Senate today to the conference committee which will endeavor to work out a tax revision bill with the House that is acceptable to President Coolidge.

Those named were Smoot of Utah, McLean of Connecticut and Curtis of Kansas. Their Democratic colleagues were Simmons, North Carolina, and Jones of New Mexico.

President Coolidge and Congress were at loggerheads today over nearly every major question embracing fiscal legislation.

May Avoid Veto

While indications were that presidential vetoes will be used freely in the short time remaining of the present session, members of the Senate and House began the delicate task of so shaping legislation affecting tax reductions, farm relief, bonus, etc., as to avoid a veto.

The Bureau pension bill, already vetoed, will provide the first test.

In the pension bill's wake will come the bonus, for which a veto is assured. They will be followed by the tax bill, after it has been framed out in conference.

A partial poll of the Senate today indicated the Bureau bill would pass a second time by the two-thirds majority necessary to override a veto.

Split Pronounced

The split between Congress and the White House on fiscal matters was pronounced. In every instance, where the administration announced itself as favoring a definite financial arrangement, Congress swept aside the recommendation and enacted its own pet theory. The Senate draft of the tax bill, undoubtedly will become a campaign issue next fall.

It was severely condemned by administration leaders as certain to result in a government deficit ranging as high as $150,000,000.

Hold Wealthy Society Matron, Fraud Charge

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—Mrs. John Wesley Tomblin, also known as Mrs. Mary Rickbacher, said to be a member of a wealthy and socially prominent family of Los Angeles, occupied a jail cell here today, following her arrest on charges of defrauding a Pasadena hotel keeper, to whom she is alleged to owe $1,000 for a hotel bill.

Cal Coolidge At Circus; Never Waits On Elephant

WASHINGTON, May 13.—President Coolidge went to the circus today and it recalled for him memories of other circus days when he was a barefoot farm boy in Vermont.

He was 6 years old when he first attended a circus, the president told White House callers this afternoon. The circus—it was the Adam Forepaugh's old one-ring show—pitched its single "big top" at Ludlow, Vt., and the whole Coolidge family, including Grandfather Coolidge, who never missed a circus in his life, climbed into a two-horse wagon and drove fifty miles to see the wild animals and the other performers.

Later Ringling Brothers' circus showed in Rutland, Vt.—the town where Coolidge

Evangelist, Supposed To Have Recovered, Is Now In Serious Condition

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 13.—The condition of Billy Sunday, well known evangelist, who is suffering an attack of ptomaine poisoning, was pronounced "serious" this afternoon following a turn for the worse today.

The evangelist got up from his bed today and apparently had recovered from the attack of Friday when he suddenly collapsed.

Physicians did not issue detailed bulletins as to the latest complications.

SOLON IS GUILTY IN LIQUOR CASE

U. S. Congressman Faces Jail Term In Conspiracy To Violate Dry Law

BULLETIN
COVINGTON, Ky., May 13.—Congressman John W. Langley of Pikeville, Ky., and Milton Lipschutz of Philadelphia, were sentenced to serve two years each in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., for conspiracy to violate the Volstead act, for which Langley voted in Congress. There were no fines.

COVINGTON, Ky., May 13.—A congressman today faced a term of two years in the United States penitentiary at Atlanta. John Wesley Langley of Pikeville, Ky., who for eighteen years has represented the Tenth Kentucky district in the lower house of Congress, was convicted last night of conspiracy to violate the liquor laws of the country by selling and transporting 1400 cases of liquor from the Belle of Anderson distillery near Lawrenceburg.

The congressmen, who voted dry when the question came up during the world war in 1918, and who backed the Volstead act, was found to be guilty on two counts, as was one of his co-defendants, Milton Lipschutz of Philadelphia.

The jurors deliberated two hours and forty-five minutes. Ten were farmers and two were merchants.

The list comprised men of national prominence who were given badges and other credentials of fully accredited agents.

All of these men have now been "dismissed" by Attorney General Stone, it was announced.

WANTS TO FIGHT CHAMPION AGAIN

Carpentier Comes to Battle Tommy Gibbons on Way To Title Holder

NEW YORK, May 13.—Declaring his ultimate object on his second visit to America is a return bout with Jack Dempsey, Georges Carpentier, former idol of the French boxing public, arrived this afternoon on the Majestic.

Jack Curley, who says he is the Frenchman's American representative, and who has signed him to meet Tom Gibbons at Michigan City May 31, and Billy Gibson, who claims a prior engagement with Carpentier to meet Gene Tunney in Jersey City June 16, vied as the first to get the ears of Carpentier and his manager, Francois Descamps.

"I hope to accomplish what Dempsey could not," he said, "by stopping Gibbons inside the limit," said Carpentier.

Gibson was to meet Descamps and Carpentier this afternoon for a conference. Whatever may be the course of Gibson, Carpentier made it plain he intends to meet Gibbons first.

Workman Kills Two, Then Ends Own Life

CHICAGO, May 13.—John Gardner, 60, a scale inspector for the Illinois Malleable Iron company, believed to have become suddenly demented, rushed into the shops today, shot and killed Herman Krause and Rensselaer Wilcox, workmen, then rushed out, ran a block to another part of the shops and blew out his own brains.

LEGISLATION URGED FOR FARMERS

No Adjournment Until Some Kind of Agricultural Bill Passed, Report

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Special Correspondent to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.
WASHINGTON, May 13.—Congress will not adjourn without passing some kind of agricultural legislation and the question of which of the many bills presented shall be approved is becoming more complicated every day.

The McNary-Haugen bill has the right-of-way. A vote on it will be forced shortly and, until that measure is disposed of, all other proposals must wait. But the outlook for the McNary-Haugen bill's passage is not bright. The opposition to it is growing, largely because, when all is said and done, it is an experimental measure, and the opponents of it say they do not think $200,000,000 should be appropriated at this time for anything which cannot be proved of direct benefit to the nation as a whole.

Bureau Supports It

The bill has the support of the department of agriculture, but it has not yet won the approval of President Coolidge. Its provisions whereby the price of wheat would be raised arbitrarily on a basis which bears a constant relation to the fluctuating prices of other commodities are not accepted as workable by the president, but his opposition has not been put on that ground. He is not in favor of $200,000,000 appropriations when there is divided opinion as to the merit of the plan itself among farm interests.

The Norbeck-Burtens bill, which would have provided funds for diversified farming, was a much simpler bill, but it failed in the Senate. The same line-up of conservatives among the Republicans and Democrats will be

BIRDMAN AIMS AT NON-STOP RECORD

Lieut. Tonkin Starts on Dash Between Seattle and San Francisco

SEATTLE, May 13.—Lieutenant Earle H. Tonkin, assistant officer of the Ninth corps area, and Sergeant Ivan O. Cooper, mechanic, hopped off here at 5 o'clock this morning in an attempt to establish a new non-stop record between Sand Point and Crissy field.

The De Havilland plane carried 142 gallons of gasoline, and the army flyer expects to reach Crissy field shortly after noon today if he secures the aid of a "tail wind" promised him by the weather bureau.

Lieutenant Tonkin declared himself confident that he can establish the new non-stop record. He said, however, that if his gas supply runs low he will stop at Red Bluff, Cal., before continuing to Crissy field, San Francisco.

POINCARE TO RESIGN AS PREMIER

Foes' Sweeping Victory In Election Will Bring Cabinet's Fall

By FRANK E. MASON
For International News Service.
PARIS, May 13.—Premier Raymond Poincare, following a cabinet meeting, officially notified President Millerand today that he and his cabinet will resign June 1 as a result of the defeat of the Bloc National parties in Sunday's general election.

It was first reported the letter of resignation had been placed in President Millerand's hands this morning. An official communique corrected this report.

Still In Office

The communique follows: "Premier Poincare announced that he will place the French cabinet's collective resignation in President Millerand's hands June 1."

Supporters of the premier, explaining the delay over the government's resignation, pointed out that the new chamber constitutionally is not existent until June 1. In the meantime, although not in session, the old chamber of deputies in which Poincare had a majority, is constitutionally alive.

The cabinet met at the Elysee palace—official residence of the president—at 11 o'clock with President Millerand presiding.

Desire for Peace

L'Ere Nouvelle, organ of the left bloc parties, commented upon the result as follows: "The people's verdict demonstrates a desire to live in peace and to let live in peace without pretending to dominate other peoples. France demands just reparations from Germany, but is willing to extend a hand to Germany to help her restore her political and economic independence."

WRECKED FLYERS HEAD HOMEWARD

Martin and Harvey to Sail For United States on Cannery Steamer

CORDOVA, Alaska, May 13.—Major Frederick L. Martin and Sergeant Alva Harvey, completely recovered from their ten day trek through icy Alaskan wastes after their round-the-world plane Seattle was wrecked April 30 in a crash with a mountain north of Port Moller, were ready to depart today for the United States from the little cannery settlement where they found refuge. Permission to return on the cannery boat Catherine D, which reached Port Moller today, was received by the globe circling flight commander. The Catherine D will load at Port Moller and probably arrive at Bellingham, Washington, May 25.

Meanwhile the other three planes still in the flight are waiting favorable weather at Attu island, on the extreme western tip of the Aleutian group. They will hop off as soon as weather permits, for the Japanese Kuriles group, 860 miles southwestward.

Bowler Killed; Auto Skids Near Visalia

VISALIA, Cal., May 13.—Henry Keyser, 22, member of a Redwood City bowling team, returning from Venice, is dead here today following an accident to their automobile, which skidded on the wet pavement three miles north of Goshen on the State highway, overturned and pinned him beneath the machine. Other members of the party were not injured.

He's Democratic Boss!

Folks, meet GEORGE E. BRENNAN. He's the Democratic boss of Chicago and proposes to have a whole lot to say about the party's presidential nomination. He believes in letting the people rule—under competent advice.

George E. Brennan of Chicago Intends to Have Important Part in Selection of Party's Presidential Nominee

CHICAGO, May 13.—He is stout and heavy, but not tall. A magnificent double chin falls upon his collar. Above it is a wide, humorous mouth. He has capitalized that double chin and that smiling mouth. They give him the appearance of an easy-going soul; and so he plays the role of an easy boss. But, above the mouth are two keen eyes, shaded by thick, black brows; and behind the eyes is one of the most astute political brains in America, say those who know him best.

He is George E. Brennan, Democratic boss of Chicago, and, therefore, of Illinois. He made William E. Dever mayor of Chicago. He now is preparing to make Norman L. Jones governor of Illinois. And he may also make the next president of the United States.

For he is today the strongest organization leader in the Democratic party. A month ago there was a triumvirate. Brennan, Charles F. Murphy of New York and Tom Taggart of Indiana. Now Murphy is dead and Brennan leads alone.

Holds No Office

Mr. Brennan holds no office. He is not even an officer of the Democratic party. He is not on the national committee, nor the state central committee. But from his corner office he directs campaigns and wins victories; and to that office, all day long, flows a stream of office-holders and politicians to receive advice—never to take orders.

The story of George Brennan's rise to power is truly American.

Order Commission to Make Survey of Rates

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The Interstate Commerce commission was directed to make a complete survey of the transportation rate structure with a view of lowering freight rates, in resolutions favorably reported today from the House interstate and foreign commerce commission.

This work by the Interstate Commerce commission was suggested by President Coolidge in his message to congress last December as a basis for rate reduction in the interest of the farmer.

SINGLE VOTE RESULTS IN EXECUTIVE VICTORY

Message Disapproving of Soldiers' Bonus Help Up Temporarily

BULLETIN
SACRAMENTO, May 13.—The grand parlor of the Native Sons of the Golden West in annual session here today voted to send resolutions to President Coolidge and members of Congress asking for enactment of the Japanese exclusion measure and for adoption of legislation to restrict manufacture and importation of narcotics.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—By the narrow margin of a single vote—and that secured by a senator changing his vote at the last minute—the Senate today sustained President Coolidge's veto of the Burson pension bill, which would have granted considerably increased pensions to the veterans of the Mexican, Civil and Spanish-American wars.

The vote was 53 to 28 after Senator Harrell, Republican of Oklahoma, who originally had voted to override the president's veto, corrected his vote to sustain the veto.

Harrell's vote as cast originally would have made the ballot 54 to 27, and given the two-thirds majority necessary to override presidential veto.

Senators, tellers and newspapermen who were keeping a close check on the balloting as it proceeded on the roll call, knew the bill was passed over the president's veto as soon as the last name was called. The tabulation was 54 to 27.

Changes His Vote

In the midst of a hubbub and buzz of excitement Senator Harrell arose and asked the teller how he voted. The teller replied he was recorded in favor of the bill.

"Well, I desire to be recorded in the negative," said the Oklahoman.

Thus, in a twinkling, the defeat of President Coolidge's veto of the measure was turned into a victory for the White House.

There was an uproar following the vote, which had proceeded at all times amid noise and confusion, with party lines shattered.

President Delays Veto Message on Bonus Bill

WASHINGTON, May 13.—A veto message from President Coolidge disapproving the soldiers' bonus bill was expected from the White House today, but the president decided to delay it until he has fully digested reports on the bill prepared by Secretary of the PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 13.—Governor Flynn today directed High Sheriff Jonathan Andrews of Providence county, to order every available deputy sheriff to the Senate chamber at the state house where Republicans and Democrats are threatening each other in the bitterest political fight in the history of the state. The governor told Sheriff Andrews that failure to comply with his orders would result in dismissal of the sheriff's force and the calling of the national guard to take its place.

Jack Carr knocked out "Kid" Nolan; Roy Edwards drew with Red Ulan; Pete Essick got the decision over Kid Williams of Lankershim, and in the main event, Bud Forester fought a fast draw with Ralph Meyers.

Following the bouts and entertainments in the lodge room, the members adjourned to the dining room where the usual spread was enjoyed.

TELLS OF RIGID PLAGUE RULINGS ON MOTOR TRIP

Quarantine Effective Over Course Followed by Local Autoists

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Ball of 363 West Elk street are taking a fine spring motor trip north. In order that their Glendale friends may know something of the rigid quarantine rulings in force in the middle and northern part of the state, because of the foot and mouth disease, Mr. Ball has written a letter to The Glendale Evening News from Dos Palos. It is herewith printed:

"As you might wonder where Glendale boys wander some times I am writing you this note. We left Glendale May 8 at 10 a. m. and went north over the Mojave route. Took a dip with our car and both of us shoes just out of Newhall and again at the Kern county line.

Pear Orchards
 "Just above Lancaster at Te-hachapi we saw large orchards of pear trees, all with a beautiful white bloom. The trees were so full of bloom one could not look on anything more grand.

"At the junction on the main highway we took another dip and then met our first unpleasant feature of the hoof and mouth disease. There were 200 cattle condemned two days before we arrived and they were waiting for the firing squad to do the killing. Owners were not in pleasant mood, so we were informed.

Through Sheep Dip
 "We stopped for the night at Delano, and one mile out of Delano we took another dip and walked in sawdust wet with sheep dip. The odor is not the nicest of perfume.

"Passing through Fresno county we took another dip and entered another county. We surely see many business men very much depressed, owing to no business. The cream checks do not come in and the hay and grain movement is no good. We could not help note the solemn look of the business man standing in the door of his place of business."

Thousands of Fish Die as Waters Are Drained from Lake

SACRAMENTO, May 13.—With the draining of Tracy Lake some twenty miles south of this city, for reclamation purposes, thousands of fish are dead or dying in the few acres still covered with water.

The lake has been reduced to one-third its original size and two miles of lake front are strewn with decaying fish. It is located on the north side of the Mokelumne river.

A ditch twenty feet in depth was excavated connecting the body of water with the river. With the first inrush of the water to the river a large number of fish escaped.

The lake bed is to be planted to beans and enormous crops are expected from the rich peat soil.

Smallman to Outline Plans for 'The Messiah' at Meeting Tonight

Preliminary rehearsals of Handel's oratorio, "The Messiah," are to begin tonight at the Harvard High school, where the first meeting of the new oratorio organization under the auspices of the Glendale Music club, will be held at 7:30 o'clock.

John Smallman, director, is to be in charge and he will outline the rehearsal program for the rest of May and part of June. There will be a recess from the last meeting in June until Mrs. Mattison B. Jones returns in October from her trip east and abroad.

All Glendaleans interested in taking part in the presentation of "The Messiah" at Christmas time, are invited to be present tonight.

In the permanent oratorio organization the dues are to be fifty cents per month. It is announced that those joining the chorus pay dues for two months.

MYSTERY COVERS MINSTRELS' SKIT

'Judge Lowe on a Vacation'
To Be Closing Number
On Comedy Bill

"Judge Lowe on a Vacation" is the intriguing title of the last number of the minstrel show program to be put on at the Broadway High school auditorium Friday and Saturday nights, May 16 and 17.

Just why this number is billed at the end of the program, Mayor Spencer Robinson, one of the actors, refuses to divulge; nor will R. E. "Slim" Johnston, another whose histrionic talents are to be seen therein, intimate why this should be.

Others in the cast of the surprise skit are William Fletcher, A. M. Fogarty and Joe Griffin. All the actors are said to be working very hard on the number, which promises to be one of the sensations of this sensational show.

William Truitt and Peter Hanson will be seen in a Swede and Jew act, which in itself is worth the price of admission, intimates R. D. Crawford, under whose direction the minstrel show is being staged.

Robert T. Clark, 58, of Philadelphia, has been identified as the son of Professor W. H. Lieb, kidnapped 53 years ago.

She is now devoting her life to religious teachings and preachings, and is said to be an eloquent speaker.

Miss G. A. Staley of London, West Africa, is to speak at the church tonight, at the Christian Endeavor meeting.

HEAVEN IS TOPIC OF CHURCH TALK

Evangelist Sheds New Light
On Theme at Baptist Revival Services

"Heaven" was the subject of the message given last night at the Baptist church by Miss Amy Lee Stockton, evangelist. Those who attended the meeting gave the unanimous opinion that the speaker succeeded in making what is considered by many people as an old-fashioned subject, a vital one.

Her text was "There shall be no more sea," and from this she developed practical ideas in regard to the future life in heaven. Her own experience in travel to foreign lands made it possible for her to give vivid descriptions of the sea and draw parallels she sought.

Happy Reunions

Miss Stockton was able to make very vivid her final declaration that as the sea is the great barrier of separation, so, in the heavenly home, separations will be no more, but rather happy reunions. All experiences of the future heavenly home may also be the present experience of every person who will live a life of allegiance to Christ, said the evangelist.

Tonight will be "Men's Night," with selections by the men's choir and quartet from the Swedish Baptist church in Los Angeles.

About $1,000,000,000 has been invested in diamonds in the last fifty-five years by the people of this country, it has been estimated.

OIL PAINTING IS GIFT OF ARTIST TO SANITARIUM

Mrs. Hannah T. Jenkins Gives Canvas Showing
Trees Near Sea

Most gratifying to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital in occupying the beautiful new building on the nearby hilltop, are the many expressions coming from friends made during the past years.

Of the hundreds of people who have journeyed from near and far for sojourns at the sanitarium there is no more loyal friend than Mrs. Hannah Temper Jenkins of Claremont, formerly head of the art department at Pomona college.

Mrs. Jenkins motored over to Glendale on Saturday to bring one of her oil paintings as a gift to the sanitarium. In her endeavors Mrs. Jenkins has found great success and pleasure in translating nature and the picture which is to have a place of honor in the sanitarium building, bears the title, "Eucalyptus Trees Near the Sea."

Painted at Laguna

The artist has found much inspiration in the eucalyptus trees at Arch Beach, near Laguna, and this picture was done there.

It will be of interest to Glendale people who see the picture to know that Mrs. Jenkins is prominent in California art circles. She has studied abroad and has had the honor of exhibiting in the Paris Salon in France and in most of the cities of America.

Her work in developing the art department of Pomona college brought her high commendation in both art and educational circles and she is held in high esteem by Pomona college students and faculty members.

While residing in Claremont she founded the Rembrandt club and has endeared herself to all residents of the college town.

Occidental Plans to Stage Greek Drama

The "Bacchanals" of Euripides will be presented on the campus of Occidental college by the senior class, June 12 of this year. Remembering the spectacle of a year ago, many are looking forward to this event with intense interest.

Under the direction of Gilmor Brown, the cast is working diligently to make this the greatest production of Greek drama ever produced in this country.

The performance will be given out of doors. The triple flight of stairs leading to the upper quad of the Occidental campus will furnish the foreground of the scene. At the foot of these stairs will be drawn the circle known to the ancients as the "orchestra," in which both actors and chorus will perform.

NINE BOYS GET SCOUTS' BADGES AT CEREMONIES

Welcomed by Officials as New Members of Troop
14 Last Night

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
Of The Evening News Staff.

Nine future citizens of the United States completed their first step to scoutdom when they received their Tenderfoot Scout badges in the Harvard High school gymnasium last night at 8 o'clock. The nine boys are now members of Troop No. 14 of the Verdugo Hills District. Dr. F. R. Gartley is the scoutmaster of the troop.

The following boys were presented with the Tenderfoot Boy Scout badges: Gordon Cook, Vincent Ray, George Marek, Otto Springer, Dave, George Schienle, Howard Crizer and Russell De Mars. L. E. Wilson, local scout commissioner, presented the badges and had charge of the ceremony. He was assisted by Dr. Gartley, and his assistant, George Burroughs.

To receive a tenderfoot badge the boys must know how to tie nine common knots and explain their uses, give a brief history of the first national flag, explain how to raise, lower, and place it at half-mast, give a brief history of the scout badge and laws, repeat the scout motto and recite the twelve scout laws in full. Other rules essential to scouting concerning the flag, scout salutes and signs are also included in the tenderfoot test.

After the presentation of the badges Mr. Wilson showed by example how the true scout should be. With a piece of rope he made a square knot. This symbolized a scout, the harder the knot was pulled the squarer it became. He then constructed a false square knot and showed how that, although it appeared square when it was put under strain like some people, it slipped.

Mr. Wilson also gave a short talk on honesty and loyalty using true to life stories that he had come across as examples. He also told the boys that they had one of the largest and best troops in this locality and stated the troop had an excellent chance of winning the Boy's Week parade which will be led by the scouts. Everyone in Troop 14 has a suit and with all members present should make a formidable showing in the parade.

The mothers and fathers of almost every boy receiving a badge were present as were Normal C. Hayhurst and R. M. Brown, members of the Kiwanis club, which is sponsoring Troop 14.

"use ice!"

Milk should never be kept in a temperature warmer than 50 degrees. Even before it spoils it loses much of its food value, and may disagree with young children. There is only one safe place to keep milk—in the cold, even temperature of a refrigerator. Where there are children in the home the regular use of ice is a necessity—all the year round!

The time to take ice is now! Hang out your ice card today—and see that your refrigerator is filled regularly.

Daily Greeting To News Readers

Sorrow makes the atmosphere of the soul so transparent that far-away things of eternity, that are usually unseen when all is well, become distinctly visible.—Hugh MacMillan.

FOUR-SQUARE JUSTICE IS NEEDED

There are many subjects which always are open to discussion and perhaps it is better so. No doubt it is just as well we have many political beliefs; no doubt it is well we have many religious beliefs; there can be no objection to this condition of things, and only those who are intolerant will go so far as to condemn all opposed to their particular standard, be it religious or political. Honest men honestly differ in their opinions—all according to the light they have—and in America, of all countries, they should not be made to suffer for those opinions. Freedom in thought, freedom in speech, freedom in action—unless the common good be threatened—should unmistakably be extended to all.

But when it comes to meting out justice, when it comes to interpreting and enforcing the law, there should be—and there must eventually be—a single standard. Justice, unless it be four-square, is a mockery. Laws, unless enforced impartially, lead not only to unrest, but in the end to a growth of radicalism, or even revolution.

Americans fought for and won their freedom as a result of unjust laws; or, putting it the other way around, as a result of laws that were a menace to a portion of Great Britain's subjects. Because our forefathers realized this they rebelled. They fought the good fight, with right as their standard, and they won. Eventually right always must win.

However, one does not have to go far afield to find many glaring examples of justice being trampled upon today. It isn't necessary to read ancient history or even point to big oil men, or war-time profiteers, or wholesale political grafters, to carry the point. True, their dishonesty and treasonable acts, in some cases, are glaring examples of "whitewash applied," but in every community we have the every-day attempts to bring about a miscarriage of justice.

The workman, driving his humble flivver a trifle too fast—and thereby laying himself liable to a fine or imprisonment—is promptly arrested, we will say. He pays his fine or goes to jail, as the case may be. That is fair enough. No one arises to declare it an injustice, and if such should be the case the majority would say he only received what was his due. The law, while in force, must be obeyed or those who disregard it must suffer the penalty.

But if the president of a bank drives his limousine at fifty miles an hour; or the manager of a ten million dollar oil company does the same thing; or a political boss, or an influential real estate dealer, goes whirling through the city, or over a country boulevard, in excess of the speed limit—and in some mysterious way, some under-handed way, some dishonest way—escapes without being fined or sent to jail, right then and there honest and justice-loving men lose a part of their respect for law and order. Such acts breed rebellion. Such whitewashing tactics, such pussy-footing methods, such glaring examples of "how not to increase respect for the law" do more damage than all of the Socialist and I. W. W. soap-boxers have ever done, or ever can do.

And it is so simple, so easy to understand, so easy to put into practice—this four-square, even-handed kind of justice—it is a wonder we can't have more of it. The real enemies of this country—of every country—are those who connive to obtain special privileges, and in so doing make of our laws, a mockery. Failure of a large percentage of our citizens to register and vote, many have argued, may be traced to this very condition of things. Feeling helpless to right these wrongs themselves—fully believing that regardless of who is elected they will continue—what wonder less than a third of our citizens walk to the polls at many important elections. Investigations, and probes, and mud-slinging, and whitewashing—they have learned—mean little. Eventually, of course, these wrongs must be righted—will be righted—but it would be cheaper to make a real start today than to postpone the clean-up until a future and unknown day.

AMERICANIZATION

There are various organizations and agencies that have Americanization as their aim. There cannot be too many. It is depressing, to say the least, for one who was born an American and who tries to be a good citizen to hear a man who has come here to escape the direful conditions that prevail in most of the countries of Europe criticizing and cursing our government.

At the primary election a certain citizen was refused a ballot containing the names of presidential electors because he had not stated his party preference when registering. He grew very volubly indignant and sarcastic about this "fine free country." His registration slip and his brogue proclaimed him a Russian. His clothing and jewelry declared him prosperous above the average.

The California Primary law is not without flaws, by any means, but it is outrageous for one who has escaped the dreadful conditions in Russia to curse the government under which he has found freedom and prosperity. Some of the finest people and the best citizens of Glendale are natives of Russia and other European countries, but when there chances to be one like the above there should be some way to teach him common courtesy, at least.

THEN AND NOW

We are accustomed to look back to the days of our grandparents and pity their lot. Not for worlds would we live as they lived. Not for worlds would we work as hard as they worked and play as little as they did. But they had compensations and it is safe to say they enjoyed life as much as we do.

They lived simpler, consequently were healthier and happier. They lived slowly enough to enjoy life as they went along. They did work that would seem the most appalling drudgery today, but there were practically no interests outside the home to demand their attention. There are always compensations. As civilization advances, life grows more complicated. Living adjusts itself pretty equally in each generation.

Soon we will be taught by radio while we sleep. The subconscious mind will absorb the lessons desired as we lie under the blankets, peacefully snoring. Many a dumb-bell will arise to find himself a learned man, no doubt.

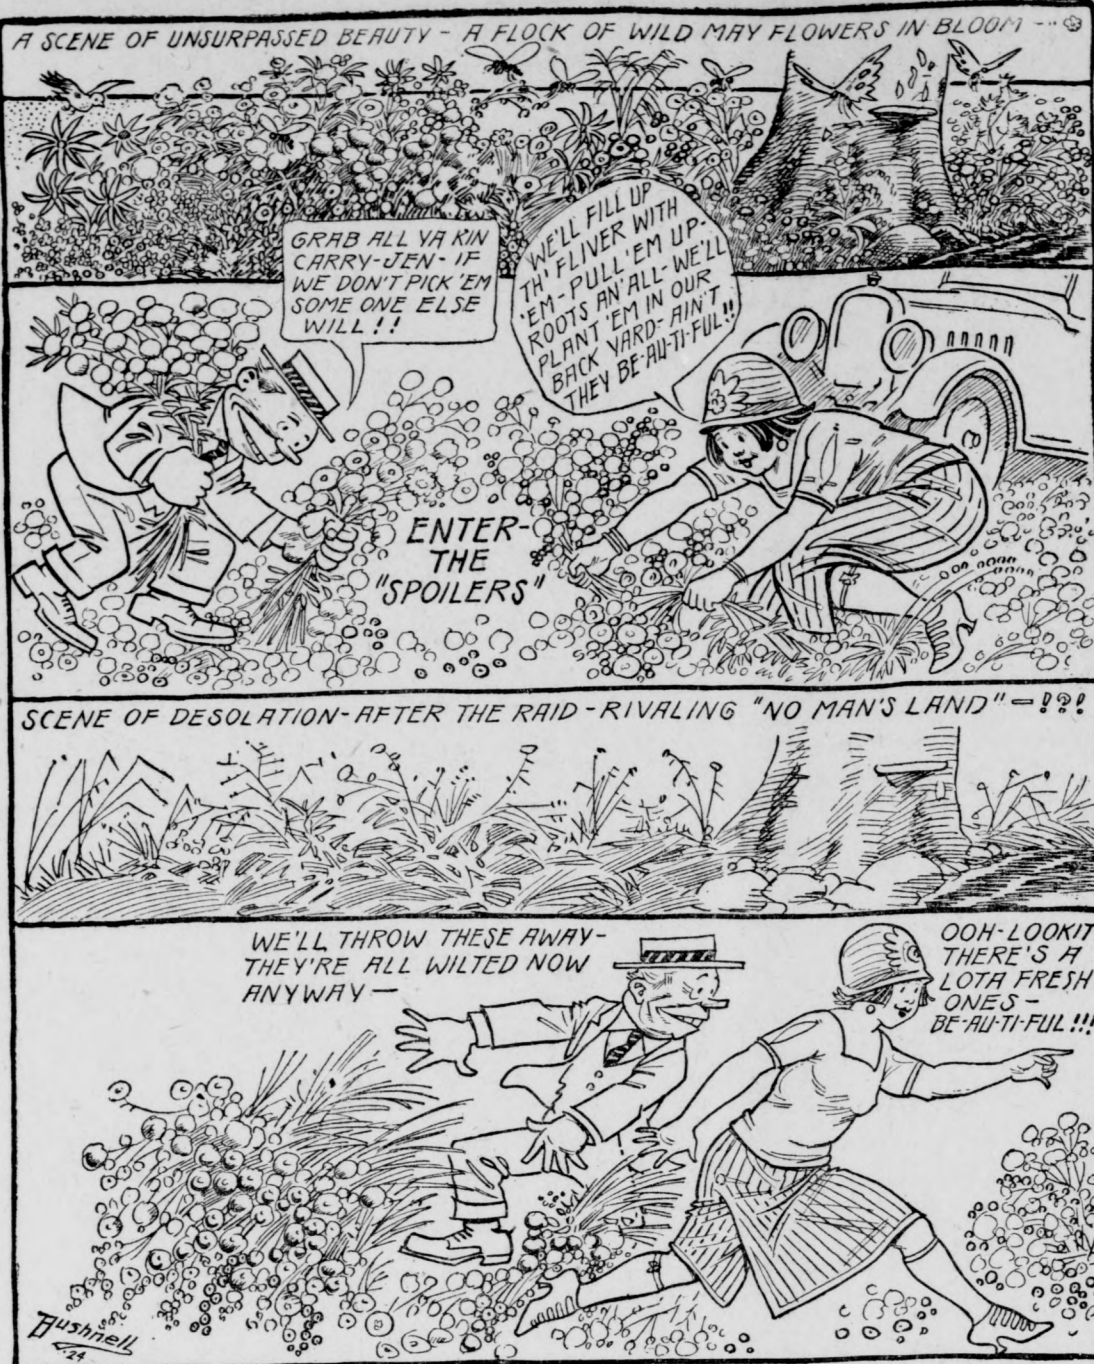

There is danger in delay. Possibly the prospective June bride may change her mind. The parson's waiting just around the corner, and a marriage license is obtainable anytime.

To dress in a sensible way means you are willing to be referred to as a freak.

WHAT MAKES THE WILD FLOWERS WILD!

A MAY TRAGEDY IN FOUR ACTS

Stone

By DR. FRANK CRANE

President Coolidge, the other day, appointed Harlan Fiske Stone to the position of Attorney General of the United States.

He is to take the place of Harry M. Daugherty, resigned.

This news was received favorably throughout the country, for several reasons. First of all, Attorney Stone has no record as an active partisan politician.

He is appointed to assist in the administration of the law throughout the country and his equipment for his job does not consist in being popular among the boys, fixing delegates for political conventions and otherwise functioning as a political boss.

In other words, he was appointed Attorney General because he is a good attorney and not because he is a good mixer.

Unfortunately the general law is that the man who is successful in getting a position of prominence under a democracy is the man who is chosen for almost any other reason than the fact that he is competent to discharge the duties of the office.

Too many officials receive their appointments because they live in a certain geographic section, because they have influential friends, because they are popular with the boys, because they are good hand-shakers and vote-getters, or for any other reason than that they can do the business required of them.

Mr. Coolidge so far has been proceeding grimly on his way of common sense.

And it surely is common sense for him to appoint the best qualified lawyer he can find for the position of Attorney General, and not some partisan boss of prominence.

Mr. Stone is the retiring dean of Columbia Law School. His mind is legal, his experience is legal, his temperament is legal.

He probably could not get elected to any small office if his election depended upon the usual blatherskite arguments which partisans find so successful.

The only reason he gets his office is because he was selected, not elected.

He evidently has a civic conscience of sorts, because he is a hundred thousand dollar man, willing to take up public service in a twelve thousand dollar position.

He was a New England boy and attended Amherst college with Mr. Coolidge.

He is a member of the Congressional church, which means something, and a strong Republican, which means nothing at all.

Mr. Coolidge is not the leader of the Republican party; he is President of the United States, and if he can get enough men around him of the caliber of Harlan Fiske Stone, Charles E. Hughes and Herbert Hoover, that is, men who have won distinction by doing something and knowing something, instead of men whose distinction is secured by the floundering of partisan politics, his administration may pull the government out of the mire in which it seems to be bogged.

The three most necessary qualities for a government official are: First, honesty; second, ability; and third, that sort of patriotism which places the welfare of the country above the success of the political party.

Mr. Stone seems to have these qualities.

CODE FOR AUTOMOBILISTS

(From San Francisco Journal)

Chief Marsh of the division of motor vehicles makes an important announcement. It is that he will recommend an amendment providing special examination of applicants for a license to drive automobiles.

The necessity of such procedure has become increasingly obvious every year that the auto has been in general use. It and its drivers number millions and multiply yearly. The mischief occasioned by lack of examination of would-be drivers of autos in painfully visible. The public is entitled to this source of protection against incompetent drivers. It is a benefit to operators themselves. The state owes it to the people to provide such protection as examination of applicants will insure.

Everybody knows of persons driving who either have had no requisite training or suffer physical or temperamental handicaps that make it dangerous to trust them with an auto. It potentially is as capable of doing damage as the runaway locomotive, and sometimes an auto running amuck does more mischief than the wild locomotive, for this is confined to tracks, whereas the auto runs in crowded streets.

Several countries of Europe and several states in our own country have already dealt with this method of guarding against peril from motor vehicles. It is insisted by the officials of Massachusetts, for example, that the applicant must not suffer from any disabilities of body, brain or mind that make him or her unsafe to intrust with an automobile. Since locomotive engineers, whose vehicles are kept from the ways used by the pedestrian and the motoring public, are subjected to severe examinations of their fitness, much more should drivers of motor vehicles, which run freely among walkers and other drivers, be examined in regard to their physical and mental fitness.

How far that little scandal throws its beams!—Wichita Kansas Legionnaire.

PAYMENTS AT BANKS

(From Pasadena Star-News)

That banks throughout Los Angeles County be deputized by the County Tax Collector to receive and to receipt for state and county taxes, for the convenience and accommodation of the people, is the pertinent suggestion made by a prominent resident of Alta-dis, This plan is in operation in New Jersey and other Eastern states, and is said to be quite successful and serviceable. Invalids and persons so situated that it is difficult or impossible for them to go in person to the county seat, would be accommodated greatly by having the privilege of paying their taxes at the bank where they do business. This plan, it is pointed out, could be worked out successfully as to details. Those who desire to do so and who are physically able, could go directly to pay their taxes, as is their wont, or pay by mail, if they choose. Many, however, are physically incapacitated from going and standing in line during the last days before taxes become delinquent. Many, for one reason or another, do not get around to paying of their taxes until the last days. And many like to have their receipt at once, and not be in suspense as to whether or not everything is all right. If receipt were given by the taxpayer's bank, as deputy for the tax collector, all suspense would be removed.

The suggestion merits careful consideration in this county, which is so large territorially and which has such a large number of taxpayers.

The People

—of—

Anytown

Character Sketches

You will recall Mrs. Sholes as one of the very interesting people of Anytown where we were all born and grew up. Mrs. Sholes, as she never forgot to remind us, was a college graduate and as such was, of course, infinitely superior to the rest of us. Our children were attending higher institutions of learning after graduation from high school but among the older generation Mrs. Sholes was the only one who had had that advantage.

Her services, consequently, were in demand on all sorts of occasions. It was she who arranged our lyceum programs each winter and who entertained and introduced the "talent" when it came. She was organizer, president and moving spirit of our woman's club and self-appointed curator of our library. When out-of-town notables were to be entertained we should have felt perfectly helpless had we not known that Mrs. Sholes would rise to the occasion. It was a generally accepted fact that she was keeping the fires of erudition burning in Anytown. If some of us thought our wives just as clever and intelligent as Mrs. Sholes we didn't expose our ignorance by saying so.

You remember how she looked do you not? She was an unattractive woman, fat, red-faced, dowdy, and whenever two or three were gathered she had the floor. With her there was no feminine beauty but beauty of the intellect; to be well-informed meant infinitely more than to be well-dressed. And when she mentioned her "alma mater" as she did in any conversation, or spoke of the "associations at dear old Redfern," or quoted "good old President Alexander" we forgot her personal appearance in the marvel of being permitted to associate with one who had had such advantages. The ancients had no more regard for Minerva and her wisdom than we in Anytown had for Mrs. Sholes.

Never without a plan to spread the gospel of culture among us, Mrs. Sholes was the most assiduous worker I ever knew. She had only to assure us that a movement she proposed was cultural and we sponsored it immediately. We were so eager to become cultured. I used to go to my mirror after talking with Mrs. Sholes expecting that culture had broken out on me like a rash and I often wondered how old Mrs. Sholes had failed to become infected with culture being so constantly exposed to it.

This lady had intended to become an author but Mr. Sholes had persuaded her to become a home-maker instead. She often told us. A few of us thought the attractions of authorship could not be so great since they lost in competition with old Mrs. Sholes, but we whispered this very softly for it was rank treason to one who had helped make our town "what it was." The woman never let us rest. If she were not raising funds to erect a statue she was importing talent to instruct and elevate us.

I think a woman like Mrs. Sholes is good for any town. She keeps the plain, unlearned, rather lazy citizens from allowing the town to stagnate.

A Thought That Came Today

By HARVEY E. WESTGATE of Glendale

NEIGHBORS

It seemed at first to wife and me
Our neighbors were a trifle odd,
They didn't call at once, you see,
Like other neighbors had of old;
They saw us move our satchels in,
And knew that we had come to stay,
But none of them approached the door
Or stopped to pass the time of day.

Two months went by and no one came
To bid us welcome to the town,
And wife declared it was a shame,
And even I began to frown;
It kind of got upon our nerves
To feel that no one cared to call,
But soon our frowns were changed to smiles,
And now we've no complaint at all.

For came the doctor to our door
When sickness called, as sickness will,
And in rushed neighbors three or four
To see who might be lying ill;
They greeted us in friendly ways
And offered us their kindly aid,
And one began to act as nurse
And one assumed the part of maid.

So now we know them as they are,
They're just as kind as they can be,
And we have measured them at par
With former friends who come to tea;
It doesn't pay—we know it now—
To judge at once a seeming slight,
For chances are they'd offer aid
At any time of day or night.

The After House

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART

THE STORY

Dr. Ralph Leslie, just graduated from medical college, ships on the yacht Ella as deck steward. He is penniless and thinks this will be a good opportunity to recuperate from an attack of typhoid fever. Marshall Turner is the owner. His wife, her sister Elsa, a divorcee named Mrs. Johns, and a man named Vall are the passengers. There is a crew of fourteen, including the stewardess, a maid, the cook and William, the butler. Charlie Jones, a German sailor with a bent for religion, is friendly to Leslie. Captain Richardson and Turner have an argument over running the ship. Turner, drunk, appoints Singleton captain. Richardson knocks Singleton down. Mrs. Johns asks Leslie to sleep near the passengers' staterooms, in a pantry, as she is afraid of trouble. One night Schwartz, the second mate, disappears overboard, though nobody sees him jump. On the night of August 12 Leslie wakes in the pantry to find himself locked in. Vall, Captain Richardson and the maid, Karen, are found murdered with an axe. The stewardess she thought Turner, who had annoyed her, was out the door. She opened the door, screamed, and fell dead. Mrs. Sloane said she saw a figure in white in the door throw the axe toward her. The crew imprisons Singleton, Leslie and Burns share responsibility for keeping up discipline. They lock the axe in the captain's cabin and Leslie takes the key. They put the bodies in a lifeboat. Leslie sees Elsa pick up the pantry key in Turner's room. She tries to throw it into the sea, but Leslie sees her and she gives it to him. At night Adams in the crew's nest, says he has seen a white figure crawling along the deck. He hurds down a marlinpike, which disappears, but is found next day fastened over the side of the ship. Then one night Burns is known as knuckles, the key is taken from his neck, the captain's cabin is opened and the axe disappears, with its sure evidence of finger-prints.

XX—A BAD COMBINATION

That day was memorable for more than the attack on Burns. It marked a complete revolution in my idea of the earlier crimes, and of the criminal.

Two things influenced my change of mental attitude. The attack on Burns was one. I did not believe that Turner had strength enough to feel so vigorous a man, even with the captain's bent, which we found lying near by. Nor could he have jerked and broken the amberline. Mrs. Johns I eliminated for the same reason, of course. I could imagine her getting the key by subtlety, wheedling the impressionable young sailor into compliance. But force!

The second reason was the stronger.

Singleton, the mate, had become a tractable and almost amiable prisoner. Like Turner, he was ugly only when he was drinking, and there was not even enough liquor on the Ella to revive poor Burns. He spent his days devising, with bits of wire, a ring puzzle that he intended should make his fortune. And I believe he contrived, finally, a clever enough bit of foolery. He was anxious to talk, and complained bitterly of loneliness, using every excuse to hold Tom, the cook, when he carried him his meals. He had asked for a Bible, too, and read it now and then.

The morning of Burns' injury I visited Singleton.

The new outrage, coming at a time when they were slowly recovering confidence, had turned the men surly. The loss of the axe, the handle of which I had told them would, under skillful eyes, reveal the murderer as accurately as a photograph, was a serious blow. Again arose the specter of the innocent suffering for the guilty. They went doggedly about their work, and wherever they gathered there was muttered talk of the white figure. There was grumbling, too, over their lack of weapons for defense.

The cook was a ringleader of the malcontents. Certain utensils were allowed him; but he was compelled at night to lock them in the galley, after either Burns' inspection or mine, and to turn over the key to one of us.

On the morning after the attack, therefore, Tom, carrying Singleton's breakfast to him, told him at length what had occurred in the night, and dilated on his lack of self-defense should an attack be directed toward him.

Singleton promptly offered to make him, out of wire, a key to the galley door, so that he could get what he wanted from it.

The cook was to take an impression of the lock. In exchange, Tom was to fetch him, from a hiding place which Singleton designated in the forward house, a bottle of whisky.

The cook was a shrewd mulatto and he let Singleton make the key. It was after 10 that morning when he brought it to me. I was trying to get the details of his injury from Burns at the time, in the tent.

"I didn't see or hear anything," Lester, Burns said feebly. "I don't even remember being hit. I felt there was some one behind me. That was all."

"There had been nothing suspicious earlier in the night?"

He lay thinking. He was still somewhat confused.

"No—I think not. Or—yes, I thought once I saw some one standing by the mainmast—behind it. It wasn't."

"How long was Mrs. Johns on deck?"

"Not long."

"Did she ask you to do something for her?"

Faint as he was, he colored; but he eyed me honestly.

"Yes. Don't ask me any more, I said. It had nothing to do with this."

"What did she ask you to do?"

I persisted remorselessly.

"I don't want to talk; my head aches."

"Very well. Then I'll tell you what happened after I went off watch. No, I wasn't spying. I know the woman, that's all. She said you looked tired, and wouldn't it be all right if you sat down for a moment and talked to her?"

"No, she said she was nervous."

"The same thing—only better. Then she persisted in talking of the crime, and, finally, she said she would like to see the axe. I wouldn't do any harm. She wouldn't touch it."

He watched me uneasily.

"She didn't, either," he said.

"I'll swear to that, Leslie. She didn't go near the bunk. She covered her face with her hands, and leaned against the door. I thought she was going to faint."

"Against the door, of course! And got an impression of the key."

OPENING EVENT OF MISSIONARY WEEK AT CHURCH

Fellowship Dinner, Children's Program Mark Start of New Activities

The opening event of the missionary program filling this week at the Glendale Presbyterian church, took place last night, when there was a fellowship dinner, followed by a children's program.

A report of the affair states that the enthusiasm and interesting program set a pace for the older folks that will be hard to excel.

In bright-colored costumes, with wreaths and garlands of flowers, the children represented nearly all nations, Africa, Syria, India, China and Japan and many others were on the program.

Mexican Boys Sing

Miss Jennie E. Horsch, a former Glendale girl, now in charge of the Mexican work at Azusa for the Presbyterians of Southern California, was present with fifteen Mexican boys and girls. Under Miss Horsch's direction they sang several gospel songs in their native tongue.

The entire exercises were of interest and a credit to both scholars and teachers.

H. L. Finlay, superintendent, gave a few words of welcome. He assured the workers that by this week of special missionary effort the church was making history. He briefly contrasted conditions in missionary work from the time of our forefathers to this age of invention and improvement.

First the women became interested; then the men and now all the children. He called attention to the fact that the missionary enterprise of the Presbyterian church is so widespread that like the British Empire the sun never sets on it.

Tells Church's Needs
Rev. W. E. Edmonds also spoke, giving a vivid picture of the need of more workers and increased interest in missionary fields. It is hard to realize, he said, that a majority of the human family at this time are coming down to idols of wood and stone. He declared that 500,000,000 alone worship Buddha. His image is to be found in the rude huts and small houses all over India, Siam and China. Even temples to worship of Buddha are to be found in London, Chicago, San Francisco and here in Los Angeles. "How thankful we should be that we have a living God," he said. "Our keynote should be giving the gospel of Christ to all the world."

An impressive tableaux prayer led by H. B. White, and song, "Battle Hymn of the Republic," closed the program.

Other events of this "Missionary Week" will be:

Tonight, Christian Endeavor night; Wednesday night, prayer meeting; Rev. W. E. Edmonds in charge; Christabel Pankhurst, speaker; Thursday night, "Men's Night"; Friday night, pageant, "The Uplifting Hands."

Mrs. A. D. Smith of 630 North Howard street is head of the missionary committee for the church.

Members of Equity Plan to Walk Out June 1 Unless Changes Are Made

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright 1924

NEW YORK, May 13.—The age-old struggle of capital and labor has gripped the American theatre again. And in true capital and labor fashion names are being called and charges and counter-charges are flying through the air.

Some of the managers are saying some of the actors and actresses who belong to the union are "affiliated with the butchers of Los Angeles and Herrin."

These are strong words, mates, and they were not to be tolerated by the actors who carried a card. They have come back with the statement that to affiliate with the American Federation of Labor is an honor for any thespian.

They hotly resent the idea that affiliation with organized labor means joining forces with "out-laws and anarchists."

Some of the "stars" have been made to say the same things about their fellow actors who belong to the union. At least the stars' names were signed to such a statement. But William Favor-sham, David Warfield and Margaret Anglin have repudiated the statement, saying they never heard of such a thing in all their lives.

Favor-sham showed his resentment of the attacks on the actors' union by promptly joining it.

Rights Disputed
There always has been a question in this strife between union and non-union forces of the stage as to whether or not the recognized stars should be required to take out cards and pay their dues along with the "hams" and the "supes" and the "character" people.

It has been the feeling of the actors generally that such lights of the stage as Mrs. Fiske, David Warfield, Mr. E. H. Sothern, Otis Skinner, Julia Marlowe and others of their ilk should be permitted to appear on the same stage with the organized actors of lesser illumination without enrolling in the union. They have even agreed not to call them "scabs."

It has been stipulated, however, that there should be an arbitrary limit set on the non-union members of a cast. The actors call their union the Actors' Equity Association, but it generally is known by the shorter name, "Equity." There was considerable difficulty in fixing the exact ratio between the union and non-union actors permitted in a cast. Some of the stronger forces of the union were in favor of fixing a Volstead ratio of one-half of one per cent. More liberal heads prevailed, however, and the final ratio was set as 80 per cent union to 20 per cent non-union.

The producers called this an attempt to force the "closed shop" upon them. The actors prefer to call it "Equity shop," and they say they will not arbitrate "Equity shop" any more than the United States would arbitrate the Monroe Doctrine.

Check-Off System
Regular union labor methods have been provided in all of the equity demands, including a slight modification of the "check-off" system which organized labor requires in the unionized coal mines of the country. In the case of the actors, they require that no manager shall employ an equity player unless that person produces a record of his or her dues.

The difficulty of collecting dues always has been a problem in labor organizations. The Equity also has required that all non-Equity players permitted in a cast shall be required by the managers to contribute to some actors' charity amount which would equal Equity dues if they were a member of the organization.

All of this the managers as a whole have agreed to do, but sixty per cent of the producing managers have absolutely refused to agree to the "Equity shop" plan and insist that they have a right to engage such actors and actresses as they please.

David Belasco has been particularly bitter against the union because he still thinks of the theatre as a temple of art and actors as artists. The players say Mr. Belasco is a dreamer and that he ought to wake up and hear the birds sing. They say they know how the stage is being commercialized and assert that the modern composers and authors work by the yard rather than by inspiration.

Favor-sham showed his resentment of the attacks on the actors' union by promptly joining it.

Rights Disputed
There always has been a question in this strife between union and non-union forces of the stage as to whether or not the recognized stars should be required to take out cards and pay their dues along with the "hams" and the "supes" and the "character" people.

It has been the feeling of the actors generally that such lights of the stage as Mrs. Fiske, David Warfield, Mr. E. H. Sothern, Otis Skinner, Julia Marlowe and others of their ilk should be permitted to appear on the same stage with the organized actors of lesser illumination without enrolling in the union. They have even agreed not to call them "scabs."

It has been stipulated, however, that there should be an arbitrary limit set on the non-union members of a cast. The actors call their union the Actors' Equity Association, but it generally is known by the shorter name, "Equity." There was considerable difficulty in fixing the exact ratio between the union and non-union actors permitted in a cast. Some of the stronger forces of the union were in favor of fixing a Volstead ratio of one-half of one per cent. More liberal heads prevailed, however, and the final ratio was set as 80 per cent union to 20 per cent non-union.

The producers called this an attempt to force the "closed shop" upon them. The actors prefer to call it "Equity shop," and they say they will not arbitrate "Equity shop" any more than the United States would arbitrate the Monroe Doctrine.

Check-Off System
Regular union labor methods have been provided in all of the equity demands, including a slight modification of the "check-off" system which organized labor requires in the unionized coal mines of the country. In the case of the actors, they require that no manager shall employ an equity player unless that person produces a record of his or her dues.

The difficulty of collecting dues always has been a problem in labor organizations. The Equity also has required that all non-Equity players permitted in a cast shall be required by the managers to contribute to some actors' charity amount which would equal Equity dues if they were a member of the organization.

All of this the managers as a whole have agreed to do, but sixty per cent of the producing managers have absolutely refused to agree to the "Equity shop" plan and insist that they have a right to engage such actors and actresses as they please.

David Belasco has been particularly bitter against the union because he still thinks of the theatre as a temple of art and actors as artists. The players say Mr. Belasco is a dreamer and that he ought to wake up and hear the birds sing. They say they know how the stage is being commercialized and assert that the modern composers and authors work by the yard rather than by inspiration.

May Strike June 1

In any event June 1 is the zero hour in the "profession." There will be a strike on that date unless all the managers who do not agree to the closed shop as fixed by Equity. The minority of the managers are going to sign, but with the majority the struggle has all the earmarks of being an extremely bitter one.

Of course, the country at large will try to survive this latest peril in the capital and labor quarrel, but to many actors it may mean an approach to tragedy.

The union actors have all the enthusiasm of new converts, however, and say they will readily go down to rags and starvation for the sake of the principle involved.

LABORATORY NOW IN NEW QUARTERS

Increased Business Makes Move Necessary; Adds to Advantages

"Service" is the keynote of the success which has attended the efforts of Miss Cecil M. Carroll, founder of the Glendale Clinical Laboratory, which today is occupying new quarters in suite 205 of the Lawson building. Formerly located at 104 South Brand, a move was necessitated, she states, owing to the large increase in the number of patrons.

Miss Carroll's idea is the connecting link between Glendale physicians and the persons who desire the service of a doctor. Established eight months ago, it has grown by leaps and bounds until today she numbers among her clientele most of the leading physicians, nurses and hospitals in Glendale.

Whenever a doctor leaves his office, if he is on the laboratory list, any patient may get in immediate touch with him by calling Miss Carroll, who will be advised by the doctor as to his destination. This will avoid bothersome delays in serious cases. The rule will apply to registered and practical nurses, also, as Miss Carroll will keep a register of those available.

Ambulance Calls
An ambulance service, which will insure prompt aid in accident cases will be incorporated in the bureau. She intends to co-operate with the various firms in the city having ambulances in their equipment.

Miss Carroll does the blood chemistry and bacteriological work for many of her local physicians. For the present she will keep her office open from 9 o'clock in the morning until midnight, but intends to make it a twenty-four hour convenience when conditions warrant such an addition.

The service is maintained at no cost to prospective patients, the expense being levied against the doctors and nurses who are members of Miss Carroll's official "family."

AUSTRALIA BANS FLOW OF ALIENS

Language Test Is Barrier To Unwelcome Persons
In Commonwealth

SYDNEY, May 13.—The immigration laws of the commonwealth of Australia have worked smoothly and effectively in excluding colored and undesired persons from admittance to Australia, although no race, color or country is mentioned specifically. When the commonwealth was founded in 1901, white Australia was the dominant issue. Just previously the expulsion of Kanakas, who worked in the sugar fields of Queensland, aroused an acute controversy, the people of the state strongly endorsing this action.

Long debates ensued as to the method of achieving the desired object. Finally it was resolved to attain the desired end without offending the feelings of other people affected, which included hundreds of millions of subjects of the British Empire in India and elsewhere.

First Measure

The importance attached to the matter was shown by the fact that an immigration act was one of the first measures passed by the federal government in 1901. The act provides that in addition to diseased persons, criminals and other undesirable, no one may enter the commonwealth who fails to pass a dictation test of fifty words in any prescribed language. He must write out the words in that language in the presence of the dictating officer.

The prescribed language includes any European language. It was anticipated that this would provide sufficiently wide power for the authorities without raising possible international controversies or discord within the British Empire. This anticipation was realized in actual practice.

Although there is no direct statutory sanction in the instructions, the officers always have excluded through the dictation test all colored people, including, of course, Japanese, Chinese, and East Indians. The wide range of European languages enables the officers to choose one at least with which the immigrant is not familiar. A preliminary conversation usually brings the necessary knowledge, although it is not always so easy with educated Asiatics.

Didn't Know Irish

One case occurred recently of a highly intellectual man whom it was not regarded as desirable to admit. He knew and spoke fluently English, German, Dutch, Italian and Spanish. Finally an Irish officer was selected to impose the dictation test in Gaelic, this proving the necessary obstacle.

The clause also occasionally is used to exclude undesirable whites not prohibited by other clauses, but it is mainly used to keep out colored races.

SOCIETY STAGES CLOTHING DRIVE

Gather Garments for Needy; Report Shows Work in Various Places

The Women's Home Missionary Society of the First Methodist church is conducting a drive for garments including anything in wearing apparel from hosiery to millinery to be given to the needy. Mrs. E. Hoskyn of 234 North Jackson street, who has been the supply secretary for the society for fourteen years, announces all Glendaleans who have clothing to contribute and who will not be able to take it to the church on May 15, are asked to telephone her at Glendale 1593-R and someone will call for the donation.

As this is nearly the close of the year's work the following report has been received by Mrs. Hoskyn relative to what the society is doing and has done in the past several years.

"To the Deaconess Home, of Los Angeles, we have given bedding, some clothing and canned fruit and have also helped provide for the Deaconess Rest home at Huntington Beach.

"The David and Margaret Home at La Verne is one of especial interest to us. It was organized 14 years ago and has cared for 570 children with only two deaths in all this time. To this home our society sends a great deal of canned fruit, also children's clothes and gifts of money as there is great need of a new building.

Aids Spanish Girls
"The Frances De Pauw Home on Sunset Boulevard, Los Angeles, a home for Spanish girls. There are 125 girls at present in the home and they find a practical use for scraps of material, velvet, silk flowers or feathers which they use in their millinery and sewing classes. Our society makes liberal donations to the home.

"We also help provide for the Japan Couch Home for Japanese women and girls in Los Angeles, for the Chinese Home, also of Los Angeles, and the Esther Home at San Diego. The latter is a home for girls who wish board and room at a very reasonable rate.

"Each year during Christmas time, the W. H. M. S. sends a large box of clothing and other gifts to the Yuma Indian Missions. The Indians of this mission are desperately poor. They are considered aliens by the government as most of them are born in Mexico. The only hope for these poor people is the church.

"The Methodist Hospital of Los Angeles received canned fruit, tray cloths and table cloths from the society."

Wanderlust Keeps Ex-Soldiers from Getting Farm Aid

SACRAMENTO, May 13.—Instability or the desire for perpetual change of environment among world war veterans' Welfare board in its handicap to the State Veterans Welfare board in its efforts to aid successful applicants for assistance in buying farms and homes, according to George Stout, secretary of the board.

No less than 2100 applicants for state aid in the purchase of a home or a farm have been approved since the board was created. Approximately one thousand veterans have taken advantage of the offer, less than fifty per cent.

"This condition arises," said Stout, "from the wanderlust proclivities of many applicants. They change their mind about the advisability of a certain location, or perhaps decided not to buy at all or move without informing the board of their new address. Often we hear from former applicants months later concerning new plans and from some whom the state is ready to assist financially, we have not heard since their application was filed."

START DAY WITH RIGHT BREAKFAST

Cookery Expert Tells Best Varieties of Food for Morning Repast

By MARY I. BARBER
Of the Kellogg Company.
What do you have for breakfast? Breakfasts are said to mean many things to many men. The choice ranges from the simple coffee and rolls to the breakfast that could be a dinner if the fruit were served for dessert rather than for a first course.

The important thing is to start the day right with a breakfast which satisfies your individual requirements. A cup of coffee and three doughnuts will not hurt a man doing physical work but it may not only start the day wrong for the desk worker but it may end his day wrong also.

Fruit and Cereal
Children should be encouraged to eat a substantial breakfast. It is usually well to begin with fruit because this will often stimulate a sleepy appetite. Next comes the cereal and school children usually prefer a ready-to-eat cereal, such as cornflakes. This type of breakfast food is especially good in warm weather. The busy housewife has only to put it into the cereal bowls. Berries or fruit can be served in the bowl with the cornflakes, and this saves both time and service. Eggs in some form, bran muffins or toast and a beverage will complete the meal.

Do you know that one egg will supply about one-tenth of the iron your body needs for a day? Wheat bran is also a good source of iron, so with an egg and a bran muffin for breakfast you have a good beginning to which the iron from vegetables and fruits can be added during the day.

Muffin Recipe
We are giving you a recipe for bran muffins and several for eggs. There are many interesting ways to cook eggs, yet the housekeepers serve them in the same way over and over again.

Buttermilk Bran Muffins
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons lard
1/4 cup sugar

1 egg
1 cup buttermilk
1 1/2 cups crumbled bran
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt

Cream shortening and sugar together; add egg, buttermilk and bran; then flour sifted with soda and salt. Fill muffin pans three-fourths full and bake in a moderate oven (375°F.) for twenty minutes.

Baked Eggs
Put one teaspoon of melted butter in each individual baking dish. Break one or two eggs into each dish. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and place a small piece of butter on each. Bake in a moderate oven until eggs are firm.

Tomato sauce may be poured over the eggs before they are baked. Or the eggs may be covered with white sauce and grated cheese.

Eggs with Sausage
Cook one-half cup of sausage meat with one-fourth of a chopped onion. Add six eggs which have been beaten, and seasoned with salt and pepper. Cook slowly, stirring constantly until the eggs are thick. Serve on slices of buttered toast.

Divorce proceedings are pending.

ODD FELLOWS MEET

Lower Lumber Rates Are Asked in Hearing

LOS ANGELES, May 13.—Hearing involving the rates on lumber and lumber products moving from San Pedro to points within the state was started yesterday by B. H. Meyer, interstate commerce commissioner, and President Clyde L. Seavey of the State Railroad Commission. Another hearing is scheduled for next Thursday at San Francisco.

This proceeding, the first held jointly where commissioners of federal and state bodies have presided, is held of great importance. The complainant, the Los Angeles Lumber Products company, has a fabricating mill at San Pedro, to which point it ships lumber in the rough from Queen Charlotte Islands, Canada, for manufacture and distribution throughout the state.

The lumber company complains that not only are the rates from San Pedro excessive as compared with shipments from state producing points, but when compared with outside points as well.

DOCTORS CONVENE

LOS ANGELES, May 13.—A program that embraces the whole field of scientific medicine in the prevention, control and cure of disease was started with the opening at the Biltmore Hotel of the fifty-third annual convention of the California Medical association. The convocation will continue all week. More than 2,500 physicians are expected to take part in the meeting. The general meeting to be held Wednesday under the auspices of the League for the Conservation of Health is open to the public.

But these events did not create half the interest the fight for municipal positions has stirred, with charges and counter charges. Old officers have been ruthlessly assailed for official action. Candidates for office are having their personal histories investigated by detective bureaus.

It will mark the culmination of eight years of active work by members of the civic enterprise.

Violate U. S. Postal Laws, Escape Arrest

SALINA, Kan., May 13.—The postoffice inspectors of Salina have a hard problem. While the postal laws have been violated there is no one to prosecute, because the offenders live in France. For several weeks packages have been coming to young men of Salina from a French artist containing pictures of French girls in the nude. The pictures are regarded in France as art, but their transmission through the mails in the United States is a violation of the postal law. French citizens, living in France, are not subject to the laws. The young men to whom the packages are addressed cannot be arrested, inspector says.

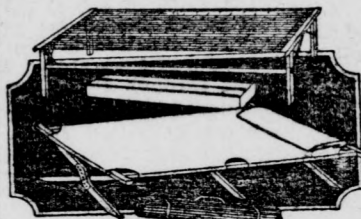

Veterans of Illinois Get Service Checks

CHICAGO, May 13.—More than 143,541 Illinois veterans have received their state bonus checks to date and the service recognition board has now approved more than 176,013 claims, according to a recent report. Present funds are about exhausted, but with the sale of $10,000,000 worth of bonds which are now on the market, enough money will be secured to pay approximately 45,000 more claims averaging slightly more than $200 apiece. When this is gone $5,000,000 worth of bonds will remain to be sold, the last of the $55,000,000 bond voted.

Mr. Root was made president emeritus and ex-officio member of the board of directors. His picture will be framed and hung in the Chamber of Commerce headquarters at the city hall by his co-workers in the chamber, who all have a deep and sincere affection for him.

Honorary Members
The election of new officers is scheduled for the month of November, so it was imperative at this time for Mr. Root to be relieved of his activities, since it was impossible to postpone his trip to Moline until then. Recognition of the honorary members of the Chamber of Commerce was made by the directors on Tuesday night. George W. S. Reed was given special commendation and made a member for his invaluable service on the Eagle Rock folder and maps. C. W. Macomber, for his generosity in donating the silver loving cup for the recent membership contest, also was made an honorary member.

Jinx Still Rides on Tujunga Racing Car

TUJUNGA, May 13.—A jinx continued to ride the "Blue Bird" special racer built by Hamilton and Home of Tujunga when it was forced to drop out of the running at Ascot Sunday after finishing second in the qualifying heat. Bert Spencer, Tujunga driver, was at the wheel and made a good showing to place his entry in the Invitational Sweepstakes, but after starting, the car developed a nation trouble and was forced out.

The builders are not discouraged however, and intend to keep entering their car until it justifies their expectations. The car is a stock model of a well known make with several alterations in the chassis and engine that gives it enough speed to compete with the cars at Ascot.

coward—a mean, white-livered coward. You have skulked in the after house, behind women, when there was man's work to do. If I wash that deck, it will be with you as a mop."

He blustered something about speaking to Mr. Turner and seeing that I did the work I was brought on board to do, and, seeing Turner's eye on us, finished his speech with an ugly epithet. My nerves were strained to the utmost; lack of sleep and food had done their work. I was no longer in command of the Ella; I was a common sailor, ready to vent my spleen through my fists. I knocked him down with my open hand.

It was a barbarous and reckless thing to do. He picked himself up and limped away, muttering. Turner had watched the scene with his cold blue eyes, and the little doctor with his near-sighted ones.

"A dangerous man, that!" said the doctor.

"Dangerous and intelligent," replied Turner. "A bad combination."

Constipation can ruin your health— get permanent relief with Kellogg's Bran

When clean and clear, the intestine is converting wholesome food into vigorous health. But when clogged by constipation, it generates poisons from the obstructed food that can lead to many serious diseases.

Kellogg's Bran sweeps, cleans and purges the intestine. It has a natural, healthy action. It works exactly as nature acts. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to relieve permanently the most chronic cases of constipation, or your grocer will return your money.

Results with Kellogg's Bran are sure, for Kellogg's is ALL bran. Nothing but ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. That is why Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is endorsed by doctors everywhere. Eat it and you need never take another habit-forming drug or pill.

BOSTON, Mass., May 13.—Peroxide blondes have disappeared from the hairdressing parlors and are seldom seen on the street or on the stage nowadays. HEAVY RAILS TO IMPROVE TRACKS

Crushed Rock Foundation to Fill Spaces Between Street Car Lines

BURBANK, May 13.—The present rails on Fourth street are to be replaced with a new and heavier variety, imbedded in a foundation of eight-inch crushed rock, machine tamped, with a paving of five-inch asphalt base and two-inch surface, the same as used in Los Angeles, Long Beach, Glendale and Pasadena.

The paving will include the space between the rails and two feet on each side. The remainder of the street is paved with cement. It is found impracticable to pave between the rails with cement on account of the swelling of the wooden ties by reason of the moisture in cement, which causes the paving to crack.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BUDDY'S BUG

"Wait for me, Uncle Wiggily! Please wait for me!" called a voice to the bunny rabbit gentleman one morning.

Mr. Longears was hopping along, twinkling his pink nose so fast as never was, but, when he heard the voice, he stopped.

"I believe it will be safe for me to wait," he said to himself. "I hardly think it can be the Fox or Wolf. They wouldn't say please."

"The old gentleman rabbit looked around and waited until he saw Buddy Pig, brother of Brighteyes, the little guinea pig girl, running along the path and wagging his tail behind him.

Oh, no! Excuse me! I forgot. Guinea pigs haven't any tail, so they can't wag it, can they? Anyhow, if Buddy had had a tail, he would have wagged it, for he felt very happy because Uncle Wiggily was waiting for him.

"Hello, Buddy!" laughed Mr. Longears in his jolly voice as the little guinea pig boy caught up to him. "Why are you in such a hurry?"

"I don't want to be late for school," answered Buddy. Uncle Wiggily said that was a good way to feel about it, and he noticed that Buddy was carrying a little round pill box.

"I hope you aren't ill, Buddy, and must carry medicine pills to school," spoke Uncle Wiggily, as he hopped along beside the brother of Brighteyes.

"Oh, no!" whistled Buddy, for guinea pigs whistle when they talk.

However, Buddy didn't tell Uncle Wiggily what was in the box, except to say it wasn't pills, and the rabbit gentleman thought to himself:

"I guess it must be Buddy's lunch. But it is a very small one, hardly enough for a baby mosquito. But perhaps Brighteyes, who went on to school a little while ago, is taking Buddy's lunch with her."

Then, thinking no more about it, Uncle Wiggily hopped along with Buddy until they reached a flat stump near where some beautiful flowers nodded their heads in the breeze.

"Let's stop here a minute and rest," said Buddy. "I'm all out of breath from going so fast, Uncle Wiggily."

"All right," answered the rabbit uncle, "and while you are resting I will gather some flowers for the Lady Mouse Teacher in the Hollow Stump School."

Buddy sat on the stump, putting his little round box down beside him, and as Uncle Wiggily gathered the flowers the rabbit heard the little guinea pig boy say:

"We'll soon be at school."

"Hum! He must be talking to himself," thought Uncle Wiggily, for he saw no one near Buddy.

After the flowers were gathered Mr. Longears hopped along with Buddy again until they came to a place where a brook ran bubbling over green, mossy stones.

"Let's sit here and rest a minute, Uncle Wiggily," begged Buddy. "I am tired and there is still lots of time before the last bell will ring."

"All right," said the rabbit gentleman. "I'll sit on the log beside the brook, Buddy, and I will wait the flowers I gathered, so they will be fresh and lovely for the Lady Mouse Teacher."

While Uncle Wiggily was doing this the rabbit heard the little guinea pig boy say:

"I'll soon let you out and you may sit on teacher's desk."

"This is queer," thought Uncle

Wiggily to himself. "I wonder to whom Buddy is talking. I see no one with him—only that little pill box on the log. Perhaps he is reciting a piece he is going to speak in school—yes, that must be it."

Uncle Wiggily hopped up from the bank of the brook, with the flowers, freshened from their bath in the water, and, just as the rabbit was going to hop on to school, out from the bushes stepped the Bushy Bear.

"Ho! Ho!" growled the Bear. "Where are you going, Uncle Wiggily?"

"I am going to school with Buddy," answered the rabbit.

"No! No! You are going to stop here with me!" growled the Bear. "I shall let Buddy go on to school, but not you, Uncle Wiggily!"

The little guinea pig boy arose from the log. Suddenly he opened the little round pill box.

"Go bite the Bear!" cried Buddy, and out of the box flew a big black pinching bug, with strong nippers. Right at the Bear flew the bug, pinching the bad chap on his nose.

"Ouch! Oh! Let go!" howled the Bear, and, brushing the bug off his nose with his paw, the Bear lumbered back into the woods.

"Ha! Ha! That was very clever of you, Buddy!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "But where did you get this bug?"

"I found him crawling in the woods," answered Buddy. "He had fallen into a puddle of water, but I fished him out and put him in my little box to keep dry. I said I'd take him to school and he could sit on Teacher's desk and hear us recite. And when he gets ready he can fly away home."

"That was very kind of you, Buddy," said the rabbit. "The bug did me a great favor."

Uncle Wiggily thanked the bug, which crawled back in Buddy's box and went on to school. And there, after helping the animal children sing their morning song, the bug went to sleep in Teacher's desk until noon, when it flew home.

And Mr. Longears told the children this story of how the bug saved him from the Bear.

"Ouch! Oh! Let go!" howled the Bear, and, brushing the bug off his nose with his paw, the Bear lumbered back into the woods.

"Ha! Ha! That was very clever of you, Buddy!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "But where did you get this bug?"

"I found him crawling in the woods," answered Buddy. "He had fallen into a puddle of water, but I fished him out and put him in my little box to keep dry. I said I'd take him to school and he could sit on Teacher's desk and hear us recite. And when he gets ready he can fly away home."

"That was very kind of you, Buddy," said the rabbit. "The bug did me a great favor."

Uncle Wiggily thanked the bug, which crawled back in Buddy's box and went on to school. And there, after helping the animal children sing their morning song, the bug went to sleep in Teacher's desk until noon, when it flew home.

And Mr. Longears told the children this story of how the bug saved him from the Bear.

Diet and Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M.D.
Author of Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

"Dear Doctor:—Thanks to you for your great work. Since I was nine years old I have been fat. For 31 years, I've fought it; taken all kinds of dope and nearly wrecked my health, but on August 11, 1923, I got your book on reducing. I weighed 270 pounds. Today, March 11, 1924, I weigh 185. There is more to come off yet. I have rested this month—only lost two and one-half pounds. I have been cured of a bad case of kidney and heart disease. "I have given your address to hundreds. Some are reducing; some are too lazy, or haven't got backbone enough to go through with it. If they only knew the benefit and pleasure they would get, they would carry on. Words cannot express my thanks to you. God alone knows what this has meant to me. My life's search has been rewarded, but if you could hear me halloo for YOU and CALORIES, you would know how I feel about it. T-H-A-N-K-S.—Mrs. H."

Isn't that a glorious result? Eighty-five pounds lost! Ordinarily I believe that eight to ten pounds loss a month is sufficient. However, I have had quite a number of letters from those who have lost as high as 12 pounds a month, as Mrs. H. has done, apparently without ill results. I think you are wise not to lose so rapidly now, Mrs. H. I can imagine you chuckling when someone tells you that "the calorie theory" has been discarded or exploded. There is absolutely only one intelligent way to reduce and that is to have a knowledge of food values or calories so that you know how many you need a day, and then take less than that. Of course, the increase in the physical activities helps also, but the main foundation for reducing is an intelligent diet, as you have proved. Mrs. H. Thank you for writing.

"Dear Doctor:—I have been married for six years, and our home has never been blessed with little ones. Otherwise than being fat, I am in perfect health. I would like to know if this overweight condition would prevent my becoming pregnant.—Mrs. B."

Yes, it might. We do know that overweight is one of the causes of sterility. I have many letters from the followers, telling me of their great joy in being able to have a child after having reduced.

G.—Sweaty, smelly feet can be cured by applying a solution of one ounce of formalin to one quart of water. Rub a little on each foot, after washing and drying. At first do this every day; then, afterwards, once or twice a week.

Mrs. S.—You say your skin is a real yellow and you ask if eating coffee beans, which you crave, can make it so. Yes, I believe so. You must be getting considerable caffeine, which is a very powerful drug, and there is no doubt that it might upset you. It is also possible that you are suffering from jaundice due to some disorder of the liver or gall bladder. You had better have a careful physical examination.

Meanwhile, stop eating the coffee beans and take a rational diet, including two or three glasses of milk a day, whole wheat bread and butter, liberal helpings of vegetables, especially the green leafy vegetables, and fruits. Don't overeat. Five small meals a day are better for you than three good sized ones.

Miss P.—If you are in perfect health, do not worry because your menstrual flow is scanty. That condition is probably normal for you.

Mrs. E.—Your enlargement of the throat during pregnancy is probably an enlargement of the thyroid glands which sometimes comes at that time, producing a goitre. You need medication for this, so that the condition will not be passed on to your baby. See your physician about it. If he does not know of the tablets which are being used so successfully for simple goitre, have him write me on his official stationery and I will give him the name.

Tomorrow—(Hordelum).

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope with your name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which we must enclose a stamped envelope. Make them as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name and address on the envelope. We will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Sleeveless Gowns Cry 'Two Arms'

Arms that will stand the acid test of exposure will have abundant opportunity to wreak havoc among the hearts of the men when the women appear in the sleeveless gowns that are winning so much popularity among the fair sex this season.

By MME. LISBETH

The rallying cry of the fashion arbiter must surely be "Two arms, two arms" for Fair Woman has cast away her sleeves and bared her arms on all occasions. Morning, noon and night, she may be seen, shopping, at sports, slipping afternoon tea, and of course, in formal evening attire, with her arms bare to the shoulder—and this quite without, apparently, pondering on the question as to whether her arms are particularly shapely or not.

As a matter of fact very few women have the shapely arms that stand the acid test of exposure, but either they (the owners of the arms) are not as vain as they used to be and care nothing for concealment, or else they are more so than ever and cannot be convinced that their arms are not as those of Venus.

Personally, I am free to confess that, when a woman is young—say under 40—I do not mind this display of arms, even if they are not particularly shapely, but past that age very, very few women can wear the sleeveless frocks and really look well. At least an elbow-length sleeve or a thin covering is more becoming.

The frock on the left is intended for afternoon wear. It is fashioned of black satin crepe in a sleeveless model and the bodice is trimmed with insets of ecru embroidery. On the right is a neat little two-piece suit consisting of pleated skirt and overblouse of green flannel with mere apologies for sleeves. The handsome evening gown in the center is also sleeveless. It is an orchid satin and bodice and skirt are trimmed with a lovely silk fringe. The lifted front of the skirt is quite favored for this type of dress.

friendships among people interested in music as you are and sing with them. There is even no reason why you shouldn't study voice if you can manage it without adding extra burden to your husband—unless he takes it seriously enough to have it endanger the home and happiness of both. Voices fall finally, but the woman who has built up a real home with love in it for man, woman and children, has built something magnificent that lasts and lasts to the glory of God.

SHADES IN GLOVES

LONDON, May 13. —Gloves have been more than an accessory. They have been extraordinary ornaments in themselves these days. They have been red, green or blue to match a costume or of contrasting shade, with "bracelets" embroidered on the wrists. They are wonderful things, indeed.

PAINTED EARS LATEST

PARIS, May 13.—What next? Whatever is next, it cannot be startling than what is at present. For now we have painted ears. They are painted at the tips, blue or green or any color you fancy, to match or contrast with the gown.

STYLES IN PANELS

NEW YORK, May 13.—Taffeta and crepe de chine negligees are beautified this season by long panels of ecru lace, in tiny ruffles. These form a thick, soft band around the sleeves, while the small pockets are entirely made of them.

Beauty Chats

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

R. G.—If you massage your scalp every day, your hair will soon show a natural gloss because there will be more vitality in it, through the increased circulation in the scalp. Hair that is dull, or lacking gloss, shows there is sluggishness.

Minnie.—As you cannot assimilate rich foods, and they appear to poison your blood, you could not get fat on them. But if you will learn the caloric value of foods and select the proper amount of those which agree with you, you will increase in weight. Milk and cream are very fattening, and they can be prepared so they will agree with you if you have any tendency to disagree. There is no need for an impaired digestion, with boils and pimples resulting from it.

Worried Sue.—You may be a bit run down, which could easily account for your tendency to stoop. Have the doctor prescribe a tonic for you, and do everything you can yourself to build up your general health, such as getting interested in some outdoor sport. At this season of year this should be very easily accomplished. Tennis will do much to improve your figure, including the round shoulders and flat hips.

Constant Reader, May.—It is not advisable to have those tiny pits filled in with paraffine. General good care of the complexion will sometimes eradicate them, unless they are deep enough to show that the under skin has been injured. The best thing to do now is to keep from having pimples; with an improved condition, your skin will become finer in texture and the pits will be less noticeable as a result of this. At 31, you are still a girl.

Lonesome T.—As you state that your hips and bust are too fat, the remedy would be a general reduction. I think the pilocarpine tonic would help your hair, and if you wish the formula for it, send a stamped addressed envelope to have it mailed to you. As new hair grows out from the scalp, the natural color will return. You cannot hasten it in any other way.

Mrs. N. A.—When you use lard on the skin for cleansing, or to relieve a parched, dry sensation, always remove all traces of it after you have massaged it into the pores. If your moth patches will not yield to simple bleaches, it shows that your liver is still very sluggish, and your skin cannot be relieved of the spots until you cure that condition.

Brunette.—The only way to reduce the size of your legs and ankles would be through suitable exercises. A general reduction will help also.

SILK BATHING SUIT

NEW YORK, May 13.—It's going to be a gaudy beach this summer. There is for example, the bathing suit of silk in Roman stripes, not to mention the bathing suit of foulard and that of taffeta.

NEW SHOE BUCKLES

NEW YORK, May 13.—Even shoe buckles are plated now. Very natty dress pair of black satin shown today has its front elastic goring concealed beneath a "buckle" of plated black satin and steel beading.

Bride: "I would be glad to pay for any back copies of your articles which deal with cold-pack canning."

Answer: There is never any charge for what I can do for my readers. I do not keep back copies of my articles to send to readers, but I am glad to say that I have a generous stock of Directions for Cold-Pack Canning of Fruits and Vegetables, printed up especially to send to Reader-Friends who write for them and enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope. This is a two-page article giving full directions for canning the familiar fruits and vegetables. Write again giving your address, and please have your envelope large enough to hold two folded pages of typewriter size. (I receive so many tiny envelopes!)

Mrs. J. H.: "One of your readers recently requested the following receipt: Caramel Nut Pie: Cream four tablespoons of butter and add gradually three-quarters of a cup of flour, three-quarters of a cup of brown sugar, two slightly-beaten eggs, one half teaspoon of salt, one-half cup of ground nuts, one tablespoon of caramel sirup and two cups of hot milk. Cook for 15 minutes, stirring constantly. Fill thick third turn into a cooked shell. Spread a meringue over top and slip into oven for a few minutes for meringue to brown."

Answer: Thank you so much for this splendid recipe. For the sake of my inexperienced-housekeepers readers, I shall explain that the "caramel sirup" you mention in your recipe may be made as follows: Put into a dry frying pan one cup of brown sugar and place it on the range; let this sugar melt and burn, then add to it one cup of boiling water. Of course the water will make it sizzle and cause the sugar to lump in the pan. But continue to cook it until the lumps have dissolved (some of them may not entirely dissolve) then strain the sirup through a fine sieve, into a hot bottle. Let cool, then cork to use as a flavoring extract, as called for in the above pie recipe.

Mrs. B. A. S.: "Kindly tell me how to clean my hardwood floors."

Answer: Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and I will send you my page of Directions for The Treatment of Wood Floors. This will not only tell you just how to go about cleaning the floor, but how to polish it, varnish it, etcetera, and more explicitly than I possibly could explain it in this restricted space. (It also deals with soft-wood floors.)

Heart and Home

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

TORN TWIXT TWO LOVES

Dear Mrs. Thompson: This may seem a trifling matter, but it means a lot to me.

I am twenty-one years old and have been married more than three years. I have been very happy until this winter.

I am so idle and everyone knows one must be busy to be supremely happy in any walk of life. Now my problem is that I love music passionately, and I sing. My piano doesn't matter, as I play well enough for my own amusement, but I want to sing. So many people, some very learned, have complimented my voice and urged me to take vocal lessons under some prominent and efficient instructor, but my husband objects, first on account of finances (we are buying our home), and, second, because he is afraid I'll get stage-struck and take too much of my time, which he thinks I should spend sewing, washing, ironing and at regular household duties.

Sometimes I feel I'll die of melancholy if I can't get out and mix with people who love music as I do, and get in touch with those who have some ambitions to help me with mine.

Should I give up all thoughts of ever having my voice cultivated and have a family instead? Will having babies satisfy my longings Kirkman, in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department, will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, and the greatest number of inquiries possible will be answered. If a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

always or just for a while? Or will I bring them into an unhappy home?

I love my husband and he is good but each day he is brooding over his business and I am at a complete standstill. There is a chance that I could even lose his love by being behind the times, say ten years hence, if I do not do something to keep up.

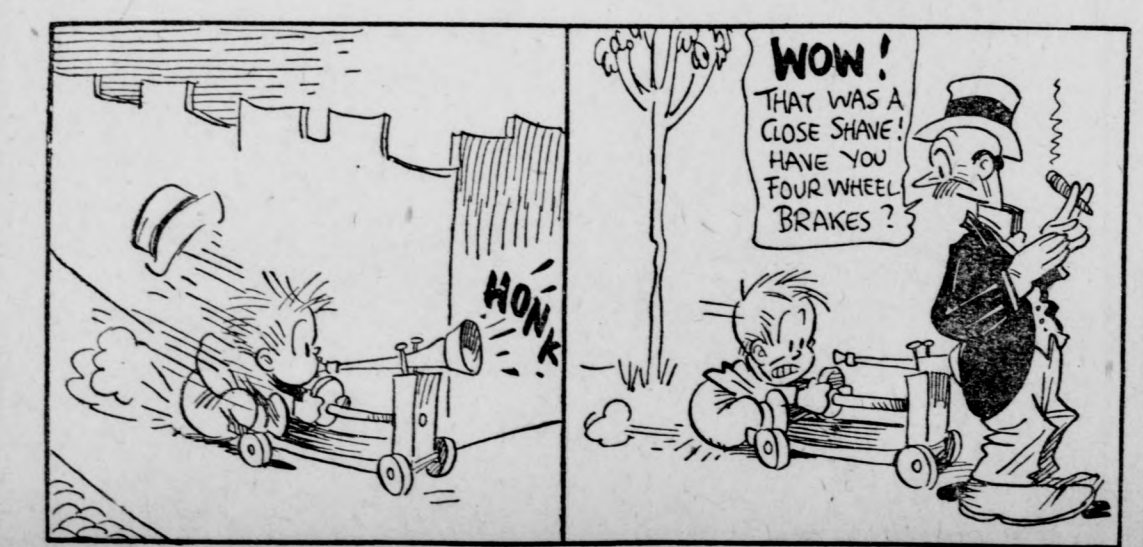

I do love to sing and want to study so badly. What do you advise? How can I be sure I'm doing the right thing to give up my hopes and ambitions? And how could I manage the financial end if I should study, anyhow? Could I begin with some one obscure, the cheapest teacher I can find, or go to the very best and demand that my husband pay for the lessons?

He is honorable and perhaps after many quarrels and my pleading he might consent, but it is doubtful.

I frankly ask your opinion of me and my problem. LUCY.

Your letter indicates that you will have to make a choice between voice and home. LOCAL NET STARS WIN EASY MATCH

High School Lads Walk Away
From South Pasadena Racquet Crew

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
Of The Evening News Staff.

Losing but eight games out of the eighty played, the Glendale High school net artists completely annihilated the South Pasadena quartet, seventeen points to none. The Glendale team played around with their opponents, and almost all the games lost were given away as a courtesy.

Bob Laird, the Glendale captain and first man, played a nice little game of ping-pong, throwing away a game now and then. He beat Chefield, 6-1, 6-2. Wayne Maxwell was more heartless, and put his opponent out of the way, 6-0, 6-0. Bee Osborne defeated McCormick by the same score. In the third man contest Lowell White swamped Bob Chapin, 6-1, 6-0.

In the first doubles Maxwell and Laird eliminated Chefield and Woods, 6-1, 6-1. In the second doubles Francis Hardey and White won from McCormick and Chapin, 6-1, 6-0. Hardey has been chosen to play in the second doubles, while Osborne plays fourth man. Although Osborne beat Hardey in the playoff he let Hardey play in the doubles. This was good sportsmanship, and permits Hardey to receive a letter for tennis.

Fear Only Moors

The South Pasadena team is almost typical of any quartet the locals expect to meet, with the possible exception of Alhambra. The Moors have as their first man Rodman Houser, a well-known local junior player. His match with Laird will probably be a real battle. The Glendale team will have absolutely no trouble annexing the tennis pennant, it is believed, and if southern California or state playoffs are held should show up well against other teams in the state.

Perry "Pep" Jones, who is known as quite a tennis shark in the local net circles, was out at the high school yesterday sizing up Waxwell and Laird. He invited both to come to the Los Angeles tennis club and play him some time in the near future. Mr. Jones is in charge of the committee to pick the ten best junior tennis players in southern California. Laird is over age for junior competition, but Maxwell should be well up in the junior ranking.

BASEBALL QUESTION BOX

If you have some question to ask about baseball, write to the editor of the Evening News.

QUESTION—If you want to know anything about a play or player—Write John B. Foster, the man who helped make the rules under which the game is played today. If you want a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Otherwise your question will be answered in this column.

Address: John B. Foster, Special Baseball Correspondent of the Evening News, 811 World Building, New York.

QUESTION—Runner on third base. Pitcher delivers the ball to the batter and the catcher drops it. The ball rolls about six feet from the pitcher, but the catcher gets it and returns it quickly to the pitcher. Has the umpire a right to call him out to third base and tell the runner to come home and not be put out while the pitcher has possession of the ball?

ANSWER—As the question is understood, the ball was blocked. The moment that the catcher returned the ball to the pitcher standing in his position the block was over. The umpire would have no authority to run out to the runner and tell him to score.

QUESTION—Should the pitcher have both feet in the box and step a step or should one foot only be in the box? When the pitcher starts to throw the ball and he sees a man running from one base to another and he changes his mind and throws the ball to the base to which the man is running, is it a balk?

ANSWER—It is permissible if the pitcher touches the pitcher's plate with only one foot if he does not deliver the ball with either foot back of the plate. If the pitcher changes his mind as you describe the play, he has made a balk. If he has started to deliver the ball to the batter he must go through with the play.

QUESTION—Runner is on second base. Pitcher throws the ball to the shortstop. Is this a balk?

ANSWER—It would not be a balk if the pitcher had not made any preliminary motion to deliver the ball to the batter. The pitcher may throw the ball to the shortstop if he does not violate the rule about delaying the game.

By Special Licensed Wire to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright 1924 NEW YORK, May 13.—Several of the most important athletic events scheduled for the east the past week-end were knocked out by the weather, which also prevented characteristic performances in several of the events that were run off. Rain and wind prevented the Penn-Columbia-Harvard boat race on the Charles river, and also was responsible for the postponement of a number of baseball and tennis contests.

There were, however, a few high lights which stood out even through the gloom of the weather. The decisive defeat administered to Cornell's crew by Massachusetts Institute of Technology was one of them. That will give Cor-

SCOUT TROOPS IN FAST TRACK MEET

Contest Is Nip and Tuck
Until End; Good Time
Made by Boys

Boy Scout troop No. 2, sponsored by the Congregational church, and Troop No. 1, fathered by the Knights of Pythias, engaged in a field meet Saturday afternoon on the Broadway high school grounds. The affair was nip and tuck all the way through, and the winner was not decided until the last event, when Troop 2 managed to nose out Troop 1 by the score of 40 to 38.

The typical scout events as well as the races were very close, and kept the spectators on their toes all the afternoon. Following is the summary:

100 yard dash: K. Solomon (2), first; Packard (2) second; Collins (1) third. Time 11.5 seconds.

50 yard dash, restricted: Warfield (1) first; Meech (1) second; Martin (1) third. Time 6.4 seconds.

Potato race: Packard (2) first; Kansen (2) second; Booth (2) third. Time 20 seconds.

Hop, step and jump; open: Meech (1) first; Solomon (2) second; Booth (2) third. Distance, 32 feet, 6.14 inches.

Hop, step and jump, restricted: Warfield (1) first; Martin (1) second; P. Solomon (2) third. Distance 28 feet 6.12 inches.

Running broad jump, open: K. Solomon (2) first; Meech (1) second; Warner (2) third. Distance 15 feet 3.14 inches.

Running broad jump, restricted: Warfield (1) first; P. Solomon (2) second; Martin (1) third. Distance 12 feet 1.14 inches.

Booth, Packard, Warner and Solomon. Time 1 min., 55.15 seconds.

Water boiling race. Won by Troop 2, Warner and Booth. Time, 8 min., 42 seconds.

Semaphore race. Won by Wyman, Troop 2. Score 100.

Baseball. Troop 1, 5; Troop 2, 4. Batteries, Meech and Warfield; Kansen and Booth.

Referee and timer: Major C. L. Wyman. Field judges: W. H. Walker, H. E. Leedom, K. M. Payne.

Charlie Paddock, Pasadena flash, has been granted permission by his doctor to compete in the Olympic tryouts to be held at the Los Angeles Coliseum May 24, and all doubt concerning his participation in the century and the furlong have thereby been eliminated. With practically all reserved seats sold in Los Angeles, this word is expected to cause a greater rush than ever for pastebards, and those in Glendale who intend to be on hand will do well to get their tickets early.

Paddock injured his leg while running in the Drake games at Des Moines, Iowa, and by some it was thought that he would never run on the cinder path again. But the world's fastest human is very anxious to go to Boston and compete with the eastern cracks to set at rest all rumors that his marks have been made in the west where the clockers were friendly toward him.

A great deal of insinuation has been flying around and Charles' ire is aroused. He is determined to leave Loren Murchison in the dust, as well as Evans, who looms as one of the strong contenders for Paddock's crown. While there is no question as to the authenticity of Paddock's marks, the easterners, true to their custom, have opined that there is no man on the Pacific coast that can step with the easterners.

Just how good Paddock is will be demonstrated at the Los Angeles trials. He will have Cliff Argue, Keith Lloyd, Vic Klein and other sprinters who have the century under even time to go against him.

Jack Dempsey has consented to box four rounds with "Phat" Willie Meehan, for the good of the cause, in a ring to be especially erected in the Coliseum for this purpose. Meehan is the only man who has a decision over Dempsey, and he has two of them. He does not expect to get a third a week from Saturday, and Dempsey will get a chance to do his stuff.

Ranking close to Paddock and Dempsey in interest will be the pole vaulting of Lee Barnes, Hollywood aerial star. Barnes won the inter-scholastic championship of the state last Saturday at Taft, and has been going over close to thirteen feet. He stands a very good chance to make the trip to Boston for the finals.

Coggeshall of Poly high, one of the best high jumpers in the state, will also be seen, in addition to a hundred other athletes whose names are a byword in southern sporting circles. The greatest collection of stars ever gathered together in southern California will be out to make the Olympic team.

Tickets, costing one dollar general admission or two dollars for reserved seats, plus tax, can be secured from Coach Normal Hayhurst, in charge of the Glendale campaign, at the Broadway high school, or Al Dix in the editorial department of The Glendale Evening News. Glendale has a very small quota and the demand for tickets has been very brisk. With Paddock's appearance assured, little trouble is anticipated in meeting Glendale's allotment.

END OF TROUBLE SEEN IN TENNIS

Head of U. S. L. T. A. Calls Special Session to Discuss Rule

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, May 13.—George W. Wightman, president of the United States Lawn Tennis association, announced today that he would recommend the calling of a special meeting of the association, to consider the player-writer rule which promises to bar William T. Tilden and others from the sport after the present season. The announcement followed a scathing statement by Tilden, in which he attacked the association, but promised to withdraw his resignation from the Davis cup team, "the day the U. S. L. T. A. calls the special meeting."

Wightman's announcement ends the controversy which threatened internal disruption of the sport. The executive's decision was reached following an "informal" meeting of members of the executive and amateur rule committees.

It was reached in spite of Tilden's blast against the association, in which he charged the latter with sharp practice and bad faith in publishing information he had given the executive committee in confidence.

Tilden's Offer

Tilden's blast, released through the courtesy of American Lawn Tennis, had these salient points, to-wit:

First—"The offer to withdraw his resignation from the Davis cup team 'the day the U. S. L. T. A. calls a special meeting.'"

Second—"The statement that he requested a re-opening of the player-writer issue that now promises to bar him from amateur tennis in 1925 and the Davis cup matches of 1924."

Third—"The declaration that Holcombe Ward's report to the executive committee made use of information supplied by the player in confidence or else 'sur-reptitiously acquired.'"

Fourth—"The statement that the association, not the players, was commercializing the game with its efforts to get as much money as possible at the box offices."

FINDS WEST ROUGH

The invasion of the Giants into western territory is meeting with disaster. For the third time the Cardinals took them into tow and dropped them from the top of the ladder. Score 5 to 3.

ROBINS BEAT CUBS

The Robins gained their first western victory when Dazzy Vance twirled them to victory over the Cubs, 7 to 3. It was Vance's fourth straight win.

ANGELS HOSTS TO PORTS THIS WEEK

No Game at Washington Park
Today; Teams Will Play
Next Monday

LOS ANGELES, May 13.—Portland and Los Angeles will furnish the entertainment at Washington park this week, and the battle promises to be a hot one. Although the teams will not be playing for first place honors, they will be fighting it out for the lower berth, and whoever wins the series will probably shove the other team into the cellar.

Due to the fact that the Beavers played their last series in Seattle, they will be a day late in arriving in the south and will not be here in time to play the usual Tuesday bill. No game will be forthcoming for southern fans today but that game will be played next Monday instead.

Los Angeles seem to come to the dugout the latter games of the series with Oakland last week. The Angels' batting order was again switched around and the men seemed to get back their batting eyes, which were about lost throughout the team. Trombly, Krug, Hood and Jacobs all were batting well when the series ended with the Oaks.

Will Recover

The injury to Babe Twombly will probably weaken Krug's chances of cleaning up on the Beavers. Twombly took part in a head-on collision with Cedric Durst in the first game of Sunday's double-header and was taken to the hospital in a serious condition. At first doctors feared he was suffering a concussion of the brain but later reports have it that he will come out of it all right.

Charlie Root seemed to be the only Angel hurler to have much on the ball last week, and succeeded in subduing the Oaks. With Reichow in the cast it is expected that reports will be forthcoming shortly concerning new players which he is trying to land in hopes of strengthening the locals' hopes.

Colima Confident of Victory Over Wells

Another packed house will greet Billy Wells and Bert Colima tonight when they mix in the main event at Doyle's Vernon arena. Two weeks ago the Englishman outfought the Whittier Mexican by a wide margin. Since that time Colima has had an opportunity to study Wells' methods on two occasions and says he will waste no time in tonight and not attempt to outbox the clever bloke from Bermondsey.

Colima realizes that to a great extent his future popularity rests upon his showing tonight and should make a determined effort to win. Bert Lamar meets Young Datto in the semi-windup. This bout should also prove a thriller.

Matchmaker Wadhams has arranged a strong card of preliminaries.

SPORT COMMENT

By AL DIX.

The Glendale Elks have challenged Los Angeles Lodge No. 99 for a team match, and supremacy will be fought for on the San Gabriel links Wednesday afternoon.

George Cline, John Hodge, Loonnie Conrad, Dr. F. P. Young and Emerson Morse will represent Los Angeles, while H. B. Webb, Earle Patterson, F. P. Davidson, J. S. Hayward and Daniel Kelly will play on the Glendale team.

Miss Helen Willis, 17-year-old women's national singles champion, who carries on her shoulders the hopes of a victory for the United States in the Olympic tennis matches, sails tomorrow from New York, bound for England, on the Berengaria. Miss Willis is accompanied on the trip by her mother.

Eighty-nine cities in the United States have municipal golf courses, compiled by the United States Golf Association.

Charges for playing, vary from $1 to $250 per year, with an average yearly rate of about $10. This makes the average cost to each player on an eighteen hole course between 15 and 50 cents.

An average of 100,000 persons used each course last year. Some have been built by subscription, some by municipal appropriation and others maintained by the players.

Coach Hayhurst stated yesterday afternoon that there would probably be no entries from Glendale in the Southern California high school swimming championships to be held at the University of California, Southern Branch, next Friday night.

Although the Red and Black institution has several interscholastic water dogs that have made good marks in the water, they are handicapped by the lack of a place to practice, and for this reason will not be seen in competition.

Mad Play Favorite in Noted Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 13.—With possibility that a field of only a dozen or so will face the barrier in the Kentucky Derby next Saturday, Mad Play, of Harry F. Sinclair's Rancocas stable, has been installed favorite in the wagering here. One by one the horses greatly favored in the winner books have been withdrawn or have disappointed in trials, and what promised to be a record number of contenders for premier honors of the racing world dwindles.

May Play today was being quoted at 5 to 1. Black Gold, Chilhowee, victor over Chacolet in the Clark handicap Saturday; Altawood, conqueror of Beau Butler, another well-liked possibility in the derby, and King in II also were being favored, the latter by those who will view them at the Churchill track next Saturday.

The Reds hurled into the lead when they beat the lowly Phils 4 to 1. Donohue, after going 39 consecutive innings without walking a man, passed three.

BUCKMAN TO LEAD TIGER TRACK MEN

Occidental Athletes Elect Sprinter as Captain of Cinderpath Team

Phil Buckman, fleshy dash man at Occidental, was chosen to captain the varsity track team for next season at a meeting of the latter men. Buckman, who was a member of the ten-man squad that made such a successful invasion of the east, won the right to lead the Tiger cinderpath stars by his performances the past season.

Coming back to college after a year's lay-off due to an injury in his sophomore year, he broke in to the limelight early in the season, by his work in the hundred and two-hundred yard dashes. Although he could not defeat his teammate Argue, he pressed the iron man on every occasion and was inches behind the Oxy phenom on both instances when he was times in 9.4 seconds. Buckman was the mainstay in the 220 and at the close of the season he equalled the conference mark of 22 seconds flat for the furlong.

On the eastern invasion Buckman was one of the mainstays and he came back with four gold watches and two medals as the result of his work.

Will Lose Six
Occidental's track team will be weakened next season by the graduation of Cliff Argue, Phil Ellisworth, Leroy Goodenough, Ernie Giffen, Johnny Powers and Tony Spangler, but the Tigers have good chances of again romping through to the conference championship as the Fresh squad will provide a number of men to strengthen their hopes.

For three years straight now they have won the banner and have made a record that will probably stand for a number of years.

DOPE FROM DUGOUT

By JOHN B. FOSTER
By Special Leased Wire to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright 1924
NEW YORK, May 13.—Both Cincinnati and Brooklyn are in the race to capture some of the players of the Indianapolis team. But perhaps both of them will find that Indianapolis is not willing to have the team disturbed until it has won the pennant it seems headed for.

As a matter of fact, Cincinnati and Brooklyn are not the only big league clubs that would like a pick at the hard playing Hoosiers. Several other teams have an eye on them. Indeed, somebody wants almost every player Indianapolis has got. There are so many good ones that the club would be riddled if the big league sharpshooters had their way.

Even Donnie Bush, manager of the Indianapolis team, might have been as good at shortstop for St. Louis as any other player that Branch Rickey has tried. Campbell Brown, Fitzsimmons and Schmandt have their admirers, but Schmandt was with Brooklyn, but he is a better ball player now than he was then. He has filled out and is stronger.

If the Indianapolis owners are willing to take high prices for their players, they might get rid of them in a hurry. But they show no disposition to smash their combination for the sake of a quick delivery. Of course they risk hanging on, because failure of the players to keep on will knock their value down.

Indianapolis is in much the condition that Kansas City was when it was developing Wright. The shortstop now with Pittsburgh. There wasn't a major scout who did not get on Wright's trail at some time. Most of them, finding that Pittsburgh had the inside, began to pound with their hammer. It turns out that Wright is playing as well for Pittsburgh as he did for Kansas City, and he seems to be playing better than some other less maligned Pittsburgh players, who don't seem able to get their feet on the ground.

All the scouts who have turned their attention to the Indianapolis players will leave their prey when they discover that other clubs have the inside, and then it will develop that these players have everything—excepting baseball talent, from whom enough to hoof-and-mouth disease. Meantime, they look pretty good to everybody.

Here's another kid in the middle west that the scouts might do worse than to keep an eye on. Ralph McCollister, second baseman of the Decatur Ill. club, in the Three Eye league, recently accepted fifteen chances against Terre Haute without an error. He pivoted on three double-plays. He is 19 years of age, and if he can bat Decatur won't keep him much longer than this season. He'll move up.

In a game between schools of Everett, Mass., and Somerville, McFayden, who pitched for Somerville, lost in seventeen innings, 2 to 1. A squeeze play defeated him. McFayden struck out thirty-two hitters in the seventeen innings. It was a great feat, whether achieved by a schoolboy or in a big league. Monroe, the Everett pitcher, was scored on only in the first inning.

FOR GAME'S SAKE

By LAWRENCE PERRY
By Special Leased Wire to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright 1924
NEW YORK, May 13.—That new, and larger golf ball with which Max Marsten, Fownes, Sweetser and the rest experimented throughout the two-day tournament at the Morris County Golf club interested the duffers who were assembled at Morristown chiefly with respect to its increased diameter, but they were disappointed in comparing the new ball with the standard pellet, to note that the difference was by no means as great as, say, that between a baseball and a croquet ball. The new sphere is quite a bit larger, but not so much so that it will result in any marked benefit to the duffer's game. If he cannot hit the standardized pill with consistency and accuracy he will be in no better position with the gutta percha sphere that Sweetser and the rest used on Saturday and Sunday. The writer sets this forth as the result of personal experience.

Whether the fraction of an ounce less weight in the new ball will be found, it, as seems likely, is adopted as the official "championship" ball—to affect the driving of the average duffer may not be said. Certainly the stars playing at Morris county seemed to find nothing wrong with it in this respect. In fact, Sweetser is keen for the new ball.

Cornell's defeat by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology crew on Cayuga lake's two-mile course on Saturday was the biggest aquatic upset since Princeton defeated the champion Navy crew in 1922. Tech is a comparative newcomer in the rowing game and the last thing that any follower of the sport of sweep rowing was expected to see was the Cornellians humbled.

Tech is coached by Bill Haines who formerly coached Harvard eight—a fine type of a man, Haines, and a rattling good rowing coach. He never had full swing of Cambridge; for not until this year has it been definitely understood at Harvard that the coach is supreme and that graduates with a tendency toward interfering in crew matters are not wanted, in fact, expelled.

If this had been the rule when Bill Haines held forth at Harvard he might have had a more successful administration and M. I. T. might not on Saturday have defeated Cornell.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP

By FAIR PLAY
By Special Leased Wire to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright 1924
NEW YORK, May 13.—Romero's downfall came after a game showing that brought forth the admiration of the fans, while, at the same time, much as they wanted to, they could not hand him a great deal.

He has little, if any, science, as the critics pointed out after seeing him box. He has very little idea of how to take care of himself defensively, and every time he bores in with deadly intent he is a mark for his opponent.

It looks as though Romero was not even worth building up, and that Rickard, realizing this, threw him in against a good second-rater to see if by some chance he could pull through. He failed, and in falling, Floyd Johnson does not get as much credit as he should.

Floyd's wallop has improved, as a result of the exercise, including much wood chopping, that he has been doing in the past six months. He has a right that looks as though it were not to be despised. And he is better in every way. No doubt Rickard will fix him up with some good match for outdoors.

One thing must be smiling. The first bout that would have sent him hurrying to this country would have been a Romero victory over Johnson. His pride would have caused him to come here just to muss the Chilean up, but now there is no necessity of this at all.

As to Fipiro's relations with Rickard, Hughie Gartland points out that Rickard offered him $600,000 to meet Willis and what would become of Rickard's promise were Willis to beat Fipiro in the first bout? It's a cinch he would not pay him any real money to go on against the champion. Fipiro is no fool, and when Rickard realizes this, he will have better fortune in his dealings with the Wild Bull.

Rickard's real chance of pulling out of what looks to be an unpromising position is to induce Fipiro to come here and pay him good money to beat the best contender for Dempsey's title. Then he could go ahead, were Fipiro to win, and make all sorts of grand arrangements for a second fight between the champion and the Argentinian.

Romero's bust, of course, complicates Rickard's outdoor outlook. The Chilean is wise, he will get out of New York and, with some wise manager, tour the country and meet third-raters, and thus gain experience while he picks up a nice fistful of money. Al-most any dub who has had the advertising Romero has received can pick up twenty or thirty thousand a year.

RIDGEFIELD PARK, N. J., May 13.—Frank Smith found a $150 pearl in an oyster on his plate at a local restaurant and showed it to Martin Hanson, proprietor. TUJUNGA VALLEY CAPTURES OPENER

Reorganized Crew Has Little Trouble Winning Game
From Cubs, 16-3

TUJUNGA, May 13.—After several months of inactivity the Tujunga Valley baseball team has been reorganized under the management of Bill Little and played their first game Sunday at Monte Vista park against the Montebello Cubs, winning 16 to 3.

The game was decidedly lopsided as indicated by the score. Tujunga Valley's first four runs were made on errors committed by the Cubs, who had a hard time deciding what it was all about. Cloud of the Cubs hit a home run and a three-bagger in four trips and Ellis and Pico of Tujunga Valley were the heavy hitters for the home guards. Fred Terzo, former Glendale High school boy, was on the receiving end of Hatch's slants. The team plans to play regular games at the Sunland park with other teams entered in the Southern California Baseball Managers' association.

Eddie Wilson, Tujunga sport enthusiast, and mathematical marvel, kept score and Bill Richardson umpired.

STANFORD TENNIS STARS TO ISLAND

Four Cardinal Net Artists to Sail June 18 on Australian Trip

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—One of the greatest treks ever undertaken by a far-Western college athletic team has just been announced by Stanford university authorities.

The Cardinals will send a tennis team to the Antipodes. Sailing from San Francisco about June 18, four Redshirt net cracks under the care of Harry Maloney, Stanford's minor sports coach, will make the trip.

Eight regular games have been arranged and it is considered likely that several additional matches will be played in Australia before the two-months' tour is concluded.

Announcement of the long tennis jaunt by Stanford definitely cancels the proposed trip of a combined Stanford-Princeton team in England this summer, where it was planned to play a Cambridge-Oxford team.

The Cardinal net stars will arrive in Sydney on July 12 and there will meet Australian university players July 18 and 19. Six other matches or more will be played among the remainder of July and August, with the final play coming September 5 and 6. Melbourne, Adelaide, New South Wales and combination Australian university teams are among the aggregations which will match skill with the Stanford shares.

This is the second time a Pacific coast team has invaded Australia. In 1910 an all-star rugby team, made up largely of Stanford and University of California players, toured there. Any man registered at the Palo Alto institution will be eligible for the Australian trip, and the team will be selected by elimination contests.

Mertz, Hinckley, Tussing, Overfeldt, de Bach, Fairchild and Holman are considered the net wizards at Stanford, and from these seven will probably come the invading quartet.

NAVY MAN SHEDS MUD ON JUNKET

Teapot Dome Trip Splashed
Others But Admiral
Stayed Spotless

CASPER, Wyo., May 13.—Rear Admiral Joseph Strauss upheld naval tradition for spotlessness here despite his travels through the drifting snow and mudbanks of the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve.

With his fellow receiver, A. E. Watts, both appointed to handle the affairs of the Mammoth Oil Company, the Sinclair holding company of the famous Wyoming oil reserve, until the Government's legal action against Sinclair is finally settled, and accompanied by several oilmen, a squad of newspaper reporters and a battery of camera men, Admiral Strauss inspected the storm centre of the oil investigation under the most unfavorable weather conditions Wyoming has had all Winter.

Mud and Snow
Ploughing through mud and snow, chilled to the marrow, the party inspected every station on the windswept spaces that include Teapot Dome.

Admiral Strauss was shown among other equipment, the largest gasoline absorption plant in the world, equipped to treat 50,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas daily for the extraction of gasoline. He evinced a lively interest in all phases of the petroleum industry.

Those who made the trip returned to Casper bespattered with mud—all except Admiral Strauss. The Admiral was as spick and span as when he left.

Why I Am In Glendale

Five years ago I came to Glendale with a friend. While she was making calls, I spent the time looking at the glorious sunset, and the beautiful mountains. I saw the rosy glow on their peaks change as the cold blue crept up from their base to the top and they were sharply outlined on the evening sky. The new moon and the evening star Venus appeared. Odor of orange blossoms filled the air, and the song of the mocking birds was the only sound. As I waited I lost all sense of self and time. I was one with all that grandeur.

Before returning east, where I stayed three years, I made frequent visits to Glendale. When I returned to California two years ago there was but one place for my home—"Glendale the Beautiful."

ARGUE, ANDERSON TO DECIDE EVENT

Crack Athletes of Southern California to Meet in Olympic Tryouts

LOS ANGELES, May 13.—Southern California fans will have the opportunity of seeing the much touted individual track meet between Cliff Argue, of Occidental, and Otto Anderson, of U. S. C. at the Olympic tryouts in the L. A. coliseum Saturday, May 24, for the two sterling athletes will be seen in competition in the pentathlon and the event promises to be one well worth watching.

Argue and Anderson have figured as the strongest individual athletes in the south for a number of years now, and just who is the strongest is a question of doubt. Another athlete who will bear watching in this event is Morton Kaer, U. S. C. frosh, who is coming to the front and promises to give both the older men a battle royal.

The above trio will be seen in the broad jump, the 100 meter, 1500 meter, javelin and discus. It is about a toss-up between them as where one excels the other is weak, and vice versa. Kaer has the best record in the broad jump and javelin and is also a capable man in the running events. Argue is without a peer in the south in the shorter races but how he will perform in the longer ones remains to be seen. Anderson and Argue are rated about even in the broad jump, with the latter a favorite in the running events. Argue is also a favorite in the javelin with the discus to Anderson.

The above event will be in connection with the other tryouts, the winners to be sent to Boston in a final attempt to make the U. S. team to the Olympics at Paris this summer.

CLAIMS EARTH IS ROMANCE SEQUEL

Harvard Professor Startles Audience by Remarks on Globe's Origin

BOSTON, May 13.—The earth was the result of a "celestial romance" trillions of years ago, when our sun collided with another sun, the gaseous fragment knocked off by this impact being the present world as known to man. Cockroaches have "stood pat" for at least 200,000,000 years and will be here when man is but a memory.

These and other statements as startling as the earth is a comparatively recent affair. "We are merely nothing, born of disaster."

Professor Shapley called the attention of his audience to the brevity of human existence. "Man," he explained, "has had a brief career on earth, from the time of the ape to this meeting of the Foreign Policy association. Several species of animals have paid for their brilliancy by extinction, but man is the only one that has persisted through several celestial catastrophes and he's just as good a cockroach today as he was over 200,000,000 years ago."

Says Man Is Doomed
Professor Shapley followed out his comparison by calling attention to what he termed the "social instincts" of various insects, including ants and bees. He said that they are just as well organized as we are.

Lighter motors of great power are prophesied in automotive industry.

ized today as they were 50,000,000 years ago.

Then, as his audience gasped, Professor Shapley declared: "Man is hampered with too many brains. He has intellectuality to burn and he must do his burning at both ends."

The only hope for the race is in survival, Professor Shapley argued. He stated that there is absolutely no hope for the "individual."

"He is doomed," he declared.

STANFORD CLAIMS VERSATILE STAR

Ernie Nevers, 'Miracle Man' Wins on Diamond, Track
Grid and Court

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—Now comes the Jekyll-Hyde in sports!

He's Ernie Nevers, miracle man and trick athlete of Stanford university. Has a freak of chance produced this youth, who plays a star role on the gridiron, diamond, basketball court and on the track?

"He can do anything," says Harry Maloney, assistant director of physical education at Stanford, a man who, for sixteen years, has trained California athletes. "Nevers is like the poets," declares the veteran coach. "His kind is born, not produced by training. He is the rare type of athlete—the generalist. It is a freak genius he has, a natural ability for athletics."

Nevers is rated the coast's premier football player, the coast's star basketball player, the best college pitcher and among the leading track performers. In addition he's a crack swimmer.

Ernie Nevers is both the mental and physical type of man we like to see," Coach Maloney says. "Nevers is well trained in every way, and his work in the classroom has been of the highest type."

"It will be interesting to watch him enter the world in a business career. I think he will go far—that he will prove a success in any walk of life he selects."

Muscle and mind go hand-in-hand in California, according to the Stanford trainer.

George Sterling, the poet, and Gouverneur Morris, the novelist, are both trained physical specimens and good athletes.

CHESLEY MAY BE OLYMPIC HURDLER

Syracuse Coach Says Iowa
Flash Will Show Up
Well at Harvard

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 13.—Ralph Chesley, Iowa flash, who runs the hurdles and the middle distances for Tom Keane at Syracuse university, will go to the Olympic trials in the Harvard stadium, at Cambridge, June 7, to meet the country's finest in the quarter-mile low hurdle event, Keane has announced.

Chesley won second place in this race at the Penn relays last year, although he had never run in the event before. He finished a heart-beat behind Dick Oram, the Union college crack, on that occasion.

This year the hurdles are being made three feet high instead of two and one-half, and this is looked upon as a point in favor of Chesley. The higher the hurdles the better chance he has, Coach Keane believes. Chesley has done a lot of timber topping and has the form which is so essential to getting over the bars fast.

As four men will be taken overseas for this one event, Chesley's chances are "considered to be among the best any Syracuse athlete has, with the possible exception of Chet Bowman."

What happens to your Part 5 of a series

"Tumbling" the Dust from Clothes Is a Better Way Than Brushing

The "tumbler" equipment in the Fanset process gently tumbles the

It handles the clothing more gently than if you handled it with your own hands.

Yet it is extremely thorough.
The tumbler serves two purposes:

It extracts even the most deeply imbedded dust.

And it removes the lint
from blues and dark fabrics.

Clothing cleaned the Fanset way is thoroughly "clean." Not just the outside cleaned up a bit, but every thread, inside and out, cleaned as

Miss Christabel Pankhurst of England Presbyterian Church

Wednesday, May 14, 7:30 p. m.

Corner Harvard and Louise Streets

As all the world knows, Miss Pankhurst was once the great leader of the Militant Suffragette movement of Great Britain, in defence of which she suffered the humiliation and shame of imprisonment. She is now a flaming apostle of the cross of Christ. She is related to the nobility of England, being a niece of Lord French, formerly head of the British Navy. Miss Pankhurst is a qualified barrister, having a degree of LL. B., and develops her themes along legal lines, as a lawyer states his case before a jury and presses for a decision. Her messages all center around the general theme—

"The World Needs a King"

Let no one fail to hear this wonderful orator, and her mighty message. Remember the date, TOMORROW, WEDNESDAY NIGHT, MAY 14. "Auditorium Beautiful" of the Presbyterian Church. Come early and secure a good seat.

Independent firmness in May wheat resulted from buying by a house with foreign connections. General offerings were light and trade moderate.

STEADY PACE OF TWO INDUSTRIES

Auto and Building Trades Dropping from Peak Back to Normal

By J. C. ROYLE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, May 13.—There is ample evidence today that two of the great American industries, which have run at wild speed for months past, have slowed to a steadier pace. Dispatches received in the last twenty-four hours from various sections show that the foot has been lifted from the throttle of automobile production which has been running wide open. In the building industry, investors have begun to ease putting up money and builders have slackened putting up dwellings in consequence.

It is of the utmost importance to note, however, that while activity has dropped below the peak of the year, it has not dropped below normal levels, and there is reason to believe that it will not.

See Breathing Spell
Automobile manufacturers and bankers connected with the industry have apparently become resigned to the conclusion that there must be a breathing spell between now and fall in production of 1924 models to allow sales to catch up. They indicate that the trend of sales which has affected sixty per cent of the making must not be escaped by the remaining forty per cent for any considerable time.

In the Detroit district, the curtailment so far has not cut the production of the leading makers below the average output of 1923, although the industry has grown so fast in the last 18 months that even those engaged in it are prone to overlook that fact. Replacements can be counted on to absorb a tremendous number of cars, and it is an established fact that those who have owned cars are most unlikely to get along without an automobile if they can secure one.

But automobile executives feel that sales will follow the general trend of industry as a whole, and are content to sit tight for a few months and await developments.

They know by experience that in a given period there is just so much absorptive power for automobiles, and if demand does not express itself in one quarter of the year, it is bound to do so in another.

Floater Suffer
The floater type of worker is the one who has suffered most from the breathing spell. Even the companies which have cut most drastically are giving regular about four days work a week, but the larger employers such as Ford, Dodge, Hudson and Studebaker, who are still running regular forces full time, have let the floaters go in considerable numbers rather than cut their forces.

The building industry is decidedly not alarmed at the curtailment of new work in some sections. Building has been rushed at an unheard-of pace for some years. Nearly $20,000,000 has been spent in new construction. Costs mounted and bonuses to workers were the rule rather than the exception. Now investors and builders feel that since some of the housing shortage has been filled, the industry is entering a cycle of activity more nearly approaching normal.

Stabilize Costs
This, they declare, will tend to stabilize both costs and rents and remove some of the more dangerous speculative factors which now threaten the industry. Leasing reports indicate a loss of 12 per cent as compared with the spring of 1923 for the country as a whole outside New York City. The latter city showed a big gain, as did Detroit and smaller increases were reported in Cincinnati, Seattle, Denver, Oakland and Columbus, but most of the other cities of importance registered losses. These losses were most apparent in the central and western states.

Building material men do not anticipate any radical reduction in the prices of their products, however. They say that these prices are fixed in large degree by labor, transportation, taxation and other factors outside of immediate demand which make marked reductions improbable.

Elections are not usually regarded with joy by material producers, but the voting this week in Berkeley, Calif., brought joy to the lumbermen. At the Berkeley election wooden shingles ran neck and neck with President Coolidge and a measure was passed permitting their use on specified types of buildings. This had been prohibited by an ordinance which grew out of a controversy over the cause of the disastrous fire in Berkeley a year ago in which the loss totaled $8,000,000.

Wyoming Delegation To Support Coolidge
LANDER, Wyo., May 13.—Delegates will be selected today for the Republican national convention at Cleveland. The delegation already has been instructed to cast its vote for Calvin Coolidge for president, and the state convention session yesterday re-elected Pat Sullivan of Casper as national committeeman from Wyoming.

PLAN NEW PLANT
BOSTON, Mass., May 13.—The Pacific Mills plans eventually to spend $20,000,000 in Lyman, S. C., plants. The bleachery, cotton mill and other units now under construction will account for $5,000,000 and additional products will be started next year.

PLAN MORE RIGS
HOUSTON, Tex., May 13.—A dozen new rigs were shortly started drilling in the West Columbia and Salt Dome fields. West Columbia once led all the coastal fields, but now is down to a production of about 10,000 barrels per day. The four leading savings banks April leading savings banks April amounting to 22,215 car loads, a total of 14,117 cars was re-shipped to other points. These figures compare with 20,656 cars received and 16,455 forwarded in April last year.

DEPOSITS GAINING
PHILADELPHIA, May 13.—The four leading savings banks April amounting to 22,215 car loads, a total of 14,117 cars was re-shipped to other points. These figures compare with 20,656 cars received and 16,455 forwarded in April last year.

SHIPMENTS INCREASE
ST. LOUIS, May 13.—Lumber receipts at this terminal during April amounted to 22,215 car loads, a total of 14,117 cars was re-shipped to other points. These figures compare with 20,656 cars received and 16,455 forwarded in April last year.

Exports Increase, Imports Decrease, U.S. Report Shows

WASHINGTON, May 13.—There was a heavy increase in American exports and a heavy decrease in imports for the ten months' period ending May 1, the department of commerce announced today.

Exports increased $350,321,000, while imports decreased $110,108,000.

Total exports for the period were $3,670,938,000; imports, $2,977,077,000.

U. S. SCIENTISTS FORETELL TIDES

Marvel Machine Eliminates Many Employees from Govt. Payroll

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Each year when the officers of the coast and geodetic survey appear before Congress to explain required appropriations, details are given of the "tide predicting machine" which was conceived by governmental mathematicians and designed and built by instrument makers attached to the survey.

The machine, which eliminates the employment of from 75 to 100 mathematicians, has been in use fourteen years and is called the "brass brain" of the coast survey.

One man, with the aid of this device, can predict the tides for two years in advance. The data are printed by the United States and sold to mariners in every part of the world.

The mathematicians who conceived the machine received $1600 and $1800 per year respectively. They worked for years on the theory of how many components were necessary and finally reached the point by calculations and check calculation where they had the number of components required.

They then called upon a physicist in the service who put the components together and constructed the machine based on their theories. This man was paid $1800 a year and recently was retired at $60 a month.

Soft Drink Vendors Are Warned by State
SACRAMENTO, May 13.—Vendors of soft drinks who dispense imitation fruit juice or any synthetic compound under the guise that it is original, received warning today from the state board of health that violators of the law will receive drastic treatment.

The board insists that the required standards for these beverages be adhered to and that harmful coloring materials, injurious dyes and saccharine be entirely eliminated.

"The food laws require that if imitation flavors and colors are used the fact must be declared on the label," it was said. "Due to the growth of the soft drink business in California and the resultant increase in violations of the law, the board has directed that the food and drug act be strictly enforced."

Member of Nobility Lands in Jail Again
LAWRENCE, Mass., May 13.—"Sir Reginald Gordon Snelling," who de luxe, whose recent permanent habitat was Rose Jail, Pasadena, Calif., and who was picked up here recently on a vagrancy charge, will enjoy an extended sojourn at the state farm at Bridge-water. When taken into tow "Sir Reginald" first gave his name as George J. Jones, later confided that he is a member of the English nobility. "Sir Reginald" admitted he has spent a good portion of the past seventeen years in jails in this country, Canada and England.

Bandits Get $17,000 In Daylight Robbery
MIDDLETOWN, Ohio, May 13.—Seven armed bandits, in a large automobile, held up messengers of the First and Merchants' National bank today, securing $17,000 in cash and jumping into their automobile, sped swiftly south on the Dixie highway.

While one of the bandits kept the messengers covered, others gathered up the packages of money, threw them into the automobile and the car was away.

Allege Accounts of Manager Is Short
LOS ANGELES, May 13.—A state-wide hunt was under way for Arthur M. Goodhue, against whom an embezzlement complaint has been lodged, following his disappearance from Long Beach, where as branch manager of the San Pedro Lumber company he had accounts worth said to be short $190,000. Goodhue, an employee of the lumber company for thirty years, is said to have mysteriously dropped from sight on April 26.

Hardware Appetite of Jersey Cow Is Fatal
WILMINGTON, May 13.—J. E. Collins owned a Jersey cow which had been producing milk in Jersey quantity and quality. Then it died. A post mortem disclosed an eight-penny nail lodged crosswise in the animal's throat and in the stomach bits of metal, pieces of wire, horseshoe nails, fence staples and screws.

FREAK STYLE SHOW
BROCKTON, Mass., May 13.—The audience at a style show at St. Paul's Episcopal church were astounded when they found male models on the stage displaying women's intimate wear. It was learned that the male models were intended for a burlesque. The burlesque has caused a storm of comment, however. Dr. Henry F. Weston, well known citizen, appeared on the stage in a fluffly ruffled negligee and Peter Lambert, a member of the church, appeared in step-ins. Other male models appeared in infant's clothing.

CLUB IN DEBATE ON LIQUOR ISSUE

Exchangeites In Humorous Argument Over Merits Of Dry Question

The meeting of the Glendale Exchange club, held today noon at the Egyptian Village, took on the aspect of a gridiron dinner given in Washington when members indulged in personalities during a farce debate on the question of light wines and beer. The principal speakers were W. G. Anspaugh, William Baker, W. A. Waring, Judge H. W. Chase, D. Ripley Jackson and W. A. McCormack.

The debate was entirely impromptu, the speakers being selected by President R. E. Johnston. Aside from confining their arguments mostly to the merits of the other side, the debaters indulged in three minutes each of telling the other members a few things about several prominent Exchangeites.

Following the exposition of wit, real and otherwise, the members were unable to agree upon the winning side.

Wins Straw Hat
The attendance prize, donated by I. B. Carlock, was won by J. C. May. Inasmuch as today was official straw hat day for Southern California, the attendance prize was a straw hat.

Secretary T. F. Culhane announced the Long Beach Exchange club would broadcast a program over station KFI on Friday night from 9 to 10 o'clock. Tickets for the minstrel show to be given Friday and Saturday nights were distributed. President Johnston announced sections would be reserved on Friday night for the various clubs sponsoring the show, and some competition by the service clubs would be a feature of the performance.

Captain Hull of the baseball team spoke on the second game to be played with the Kiwanis club Saturday afternoon. Each club will put up $50, the winner to take all.

W. A. McCormack, chairman of the entertainment committee, and Harry M. Bennett, chairman of arrangements, spoke on the plans for the dinner dance to be given tonight by the club at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. The dinner will start at 6:45 o'clock and will be followed by dancing and vaudeville stunts.

Exchangeites from Long Beach, Hollywood, Pasadena, Alhambra, South Pasadena and Los Angeles will attend, it was announced.

NOTE IS FOUND IN AGED BOTTLE
NEW YORK, May 13.—A sealed bottle of odd shape, containing a note which, there is reason to believe, has been floating in the Atlantic ocean or elsewhere for 42 years, was picked up on the sand at Rockaway Beach recently. The note, written with pencil, reads:

"This bottle is cast into the sea at Kingstown, County Dublin, Ireland, on the 4th of December, 1882, by Elizabeth Kinch, Pabst Lane, Kingstown, Ireland. I hope some nice boy returns it soon."

The bottle was seen rolling in the surf close to shore and captured. The cork was covered with sealing wax which could not be dislodged. Through the glass could be seen a white piece of paper. The bottle was broken and the note extracted. The paper is in perfect condition as the bottle was hermetically sealed.

'Boozy Bonbons' Found By Prohibition Agent
NEW YORK, May 13.—The source of "boozy bonbons," the latest refreshment at some New York dance halls, is believed by prohibition agents to have been uncovered in the raid on the Begone Candy company. Quantities of candy cocktails—slender glass types of liquor, chocolate coated and packed in ribbon-tied bon bon boxes, were seized.

High Standards
NEW YORK, May 13.—"It is my wish," wrote Charles H. Baker of Mohegan Lake, N. Y., in his will, filed for probate, "that my children shall be strong and sturdy and courageous; that my boys strive for honor, fame and reasonable competency rather than for great fortunes; that they have reverence for women; that they have happy, true and loving wives, and to take for husbands men of character, thrift and industry rather than of fortune and title."

SACRIFICE TRESSES
BOSTON, May 13.—Lock by lock, the tresses of the students at Wellesley are falling before the onslaught of Dame Fashion's shears. The hair is worn long, fore and aft of the ears, but in the back is clipped smartly off in boyish fashion. It was all caused by the fact that no picture hats may be worn at commencement if the girls want to be chic and up to the minute. Cloche hats must be worn tight and close and the maidens with the long tresses have bowed to the decree.

IMPLEMENTS FIRM
FORT WORTH, May 13.—Buying of farm implements, restricted for three months by bad weather and a backward season, has been resumed in heavy volume and the outlook for a steady demand is most promising.

More than 8,500,000 board feet of lumber was shipped from Odesa, Russia, and the United Kingdom last year.

COMMENT That's All

Experts For Your Benefit No Service To Equal This Missionaries Are Needed Duty For Good Booster

By Gil A. Cowan

Interested in business? Practically everyone is. That's why The Glendale Evening News has inaugurated a section devoted to finance, business, bonds and commodities, as well as stocks, grain and foreign exchange.

H. J. Dulzender for International News Service has a local dispatch on New York stock exchange activity. J. C. Royle for Consolidated Press gives you a daily column on business from Chicago. George T. Hughes analyzes the bond market weekly for the same service.

Special correspondents in all principal cities of America provide commodity reports. And in Los Angeles H. A. Van Dusen for Southland News Service reports the stock exchange trading.

No other newspaper in southern California has a service that is superior, strange as it may seem. The Glendale Evening News is in the vanguard, not alone in its financial features, but furnishes the best daily editorial, magazine and women's page articles, the most comprehensive local, county, state, national and world-wide news to be found in any daily publication.

Southern California needs ten thousand missionaries this summer. Just as it needs tourists to come from the east, it should send a flow of well informed citizens "back there" to properly place the wonderful land of ours before the people in the right light.

There is nothing quite so convincing as personal contact in winning an argument, or even a point in an argument. We know of people who would gladly throw our mail in the wastebasket who would not dare turn away from us in person, if for nothing less than courtesy.

And we know of people in the east who never will believe what they read about California for fear they will be "converted" to coming here for the balance of their days when their children and their children's children (as well as their ancestors in the country graveyard) inhabit that cherished place on earth known as Pleasantville in Indiana, Iowa or Illinois.

Yet if these very people could be reached by the right parties, and they can be, there is no question but what they would gladly come out to the Pacific coast for a part of the year, at least. So it is that everyone who considers himself a good booster, or leader of the middle west or Atlantic states should be informed as to California's realities and then simply state fact. Such would settle all argument so far as it is humanly possible to do so.

Dog Saves Boy Who Fell Into Deep Pond
EASTON, Pa., May 13.—Clarence Henry, 3-year-old son of Captain George Griffing Henry of the Baltimore police department, was saved from drowning by a setter dog, playmate of the boy. When the child fell into a pond the dog ran to the house, barked and howled until the mother was attracted to the spot.

GOOD CRIME RECORD
LONDON, May 13.—While the English police haven't a perfect average, their record will undoubtedly compare favorably with that of the police of any other country in the world.

Statistics which have just been compiled show that during 1921 out of a total of 138 murders in England and Wales, sixty-eight accused persons were brought to trial.

Reported burglaries and shop-breakings for that year numbered 8,969, and the number of trials held for these crimes was 2,880, leaving 6,089 cases undetected.

SURPRISE PARTY FOR DAVID BLACK

School Employees Bring Gift To Former Manager as Token of Esteem

David J. Black, for several years business manager of the City Board of Education, who recently resigned, was surprised at his home last night by the janitors and repair men of the various schools in the city who called at his home and presented him with a leather traveling bag as a token of their esteem. This followed the gift last week by the members of his former office force of a bill and card case, and a complimentary dinner to Mr. and Mrs. Black by the members of the board.

In replying to the men who formerly worked under him, Mr. Black said last night: "I find it very difficult to cut loose from the work, and the pleasant associations which have been formed through my association with the schools. I am unable to express in words by feeling of gratitude, and I deeply appreciate the kind feelings and well wishes of those with whom I was formerly associated."

Will Start East
Mr. Black will leave this week for Grand Rapids, Mich., to attend the Presbyterian General Assembly. He goes as a commissioner from the Los Angeles Presbytery, one of the largest in the United States, embracing all the Presbyterian churches from Palmdale on the north to San Diego on the south. Mr. Black has been an active member of the church extension board of this Presbytery for ten years. Other commissioners who are planning on making the trip are Rev. Louis Tinning, formerly assistant pastor of the Glendale Presbyterian church; Rev. A. O. Elliott, Rev. Paul Prichard, Rev. Campbell Coyle, Rev. A. A. Fulton, Rev. H. C. Briell, Rev. T. P. MacLennan, and Elders John Willis Baer, Jed Burns, T. Scott Brown, Walter Campbell, M. Lopez, A. E. Nelson, B. Wood and I. C. Webster.

Mr. Black expects to be away about three weeks.

BUTTER PRICES FIRM

CHICAGO, Ill., May 13.—Better prices prevailing in the east for butter have caused an increased movement of the commodity from the west. The feeling is that prices in these sections are down as low as they will go, resulting in conservative trading.

George E. Brennan Is Prominent In Councils

in flavor. He was born in Braidwood, Ill., 58 years ago, and there he worked as a boy as coal-breaker and later as coal miner. While engaged in the mines he was the victim of an accident which necessitated the amputation of one foot. He became a school teacher and began taking an interest in politics. He came to Chicago in 1897 and enlisted as a henchman of Roger Sullivan.

He is said to have been the only man in the Sullivan entourage who dared say "no" to the big boss. When Sullivan died, four years ago, Brennan was his uncontested successor. Brennan is a conciliator. When the factions start fighting, Brennan introduces a funny story that sets everyone laughing; and having restored good humor, Brennan gives sage advice, and it is accepted and followed. Brennan was in command in 1920, concentrated on Chicago.
He ironed out party differences and united his following.

In 1921 Brennan led his Democrats into a fusion with the anti-Thompson Republicans and beat Thompson. In 1922, Brennan, with increased prestige, put over most of his ticket in Cook county.
Last year he took advantage of the Republican split and obtained Mayor Dever's election.

Has No Use For McAdoo
It has been said of Brennan that he believes in letting the people rule—under competent advice.

He isn't supporting anybody for the Democratic nomination yet.
But he has no use for William Gibbs McAdoo. He fought him in the San Francisco convention of 1920, and he is fighting him today. Toward most of the other Democratic possibilities Mr. Brennan is inclined to be friendly. He speaks well of John W. Davis, of Senator Carter Glass, of Governor Al Smith. He has added a few complications to the Democratic convention by suggesting that John Barton Payne is an Illinois citizen for whom the country should be glad to vote, if he were the party's choice.

DISCARD WOMAN'S NEW CONFESSION

Statement by Mrs. Margaret Willis Is Disbelieved
By Officials

LOS ANGELES, May 13.—
Mrs. Margaret Willis' retraction of her confession that she killed
Dr. Benjamin Baldwin and her insinuation that Bert Webster, her alleged "soul mate," was guilty of the crime, were cast into the discard today at the district attorney's office. District Attorney Asa Keyes announced he put no credence in Mrs. Willis' new story that she was persuaded by the actual murderer to take the blame in order to save the name of her young son from disgrace.

"I told it in confidence," Mrs.
Willis was quoted as saying today. "It was not to have been repeated to anyone except in case of my death and then only to my son, Harold."

Exclusion Measure Is Due to Pass This Week

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The immigration bill with its provision for Japanese exclusion effective July 1, will be passed by the House Thursday and by the Senate probably Friday, as a result of agreements reached today.
Chairman Johnson of the House immigration committee, in charge of the bill, does not expect more than sixty-five votes against the bill in the House. The Senate will act favorably by a comfortable majority and the bill will be sent to President Coolidge.

While the president, at the suggestion of Secretary Hughes, sought to delay the effective date of Japanese exclusion until March 1, 1925, that he might have time to handle the exclusion through diplomatic channels and soften the blow to Japanese pride, his defeat by Congress is not expected to result in a veto of the bill.
The president has been quoted in favor of exclusion and Congress is unshaken in its demand.

FEDERAL FORCES HUNT PAYMASTER

Search for Lieut. Karelle Leads to Chicago as Wife Is Traced

CHICAGO, May 13.—Federal and navy authorities here today joined in the nation-wide search for Lieutenant Lester B. Karelle, reported to have disappeared mysteriously last Tuesday from the Bremerton navy yard, Puget Sound. A $1,000 shortage in accounts was discovered after the disappearance of Karelle, who was paymaster and in charge of the government commissary.

The hunt centered in Chicago when it became known that Lieut-
with him, was a niece of Dr. Arthur Dean Bevan, Chicago, nationally known physician.

Dr. Bevan said today he had heard nothing of his niece since her disappearance.

Pick Up Clues
A letter written to Commander Milo Draemle of the Bremerton navy yard by Mrs. Karelle was mailed in Pasco, Wash. It was said she had accompanied her husband to Portland and was on her way to Chicago.

Later a telegram from Mrs. Ka-relle, sent from Chicago, was received at Bremerton navy yard.

DRY VIOLATIONS QUASHED, CHARGE

Ex-Prohibition Agent Says
Department of Justice Failed In Duty

WASHINGTON, May 13.—A breakdown in the prosecution of dry law violators by the department of justice under former Attorney General Daugherty was charged today before the Brookhart committee by H. J. Burton, former Ohio prohibition agent.
Burton recited a list of liquor cases in Ohio, Pennsylvania and Washington which were either settled or dropped entirely by department officials.

Burton told of staking a raid in Washington which netted 34 arrests.

Agents Transferred
"We had a perfect case against these bootleggers but the agents were transferred and the cases were never prosecuted," said Burton. "Eventually most of the bootleggers went back to their trade without being molested."
The witness told in detail of "whisky rings" in Ohio and the influence to prevent criminal prosecutions.

Chautauqua Guarantors Will

At a meeting of the guarantors of the local Chautauqua held in the office of the secretary, G. E.
Leatom, Raul Periera, chairman of the committee announced that the sale of tickets had been very encouraging, but Glendale had not gone "over the top" and that it would require effort on the part of the committeemen to make the guarantee by the opening night.
The reserved seats which were placed on sale this morning at the Glendale Book store, 113 South
Brand boulevard, have been going well, he stated at noon today.

George E. Toomey, superintendent for the Ellison-White company, attended the meeting last night and stated that Glendale should be the best city on the Chautauqua circuit.

ment will be here tomorrow

Helfrich is in Los Angeles this afternoon for the purpose of iden-

LEGISLATION FOR FARMERS CERTAIN

No Adjournment Until Some Kind of Agricultural Bill Passed, Report

sufficient to defeat the McNary-Haugen bill, which is not being supported by any party, but will have to run the gauntlet of bipartisan opposition.

With the McNary-Haugen bill out of the way, the administration will face the responsibility of passing some other agricultural bill. The measures which are attracting most attention as possible substitutes for the McNary-Haugen bill, though differing materially in principle from it, are the Curtis-Aswell and the Casper-Williams bills. Both are more or less along the same line, but they have important differences in the control and power to be vested in the governing commission which is to co-ordinate the marketing activities of the farmer.

Would Insure Market
The Curtis-Aswell bill is based largely on suggestions made by B. F. Yoakum, railroad pioneer of the Southwest, who appeared recently at the hearings here. He describes it thus:

"The terms of the Curtis-Aswell bill, in a nutshell, mean that the government will loan to the Interstate Farm Marketing association, a working fund of $10-000,000 at 4 1/2 per cent per year;
this fund to be used for organizing a marketing system that will insure to the farmers an equitable share of what their goods sell for to the ultimate consumer.
"For this loan the government will receive ample security through a commodity assessment, the assessments to be against such commodities as the members designate assessments and method of collection to be determined and fixed by the state boards of directors elected by the farmers of the different states. The lack of a practical, well-organized system of marketing by the farmers is absolutely the only thing needed to make farming one of the most profitable industries in the country."

Casper-Williams Bill
The Casper-Williams bill provides for a $15,000,000 appropriation and a machinery whereby the sale of the farmers' products shall be accomplished through a commission of five and under rules made by the department of agriculture.

Under the Curtis-Aswell plan
the federal marketing board would be as separate from the department of agriculture as the federal reserve board is from the treasury department, though working in close harmony with the government departments.

The Curtis-Aswell bill calls for less connection, on the whole, between the government and the marketing of products than the Casper-Williams measure. At this writing, however, it is not apparent which Congress will prefer, for the situation that will follow the failure of the McNary-Haugen bill is not easy to predict. Its proponents are in earnest about the bill and will not give up the fight without a struggle, as there are some sections of the country which are so anxious for the passage of the bill that a systematic campaign for its endorsement has been carried on to influence senators and representatives to vote for it. Most of the farm organizations favor it, though there are rumors that the directors here did not like it originally and were compelled to support it by pressure from farm districts. The farm bloc is lining up strongly for it, but the body was unable to put the Norbeck-Burness bill through and may find the same snag this time.

Meets Every Test

STONE TILE, "wet mix" concrete hollow tile, has successfully met every possible test that could be applied to masonry building material.

Stone-Tile is waterproof, fireproof, an insulator, durable and good looking. In fact, Stone-Tile contains every feature proved desirable in a building material—yet it costs no more than ordinary frame construction and less than usual masonry.

Before you buy—investigate. Stone-Tile will save you money.
